Venice schools' tax hike rejected

The Venice School District's tax referendum to increase the educational and building funds by 95 cents per $100 assessed valuation was defeated Saturday by more than two to one.

The proposition was defeated by three to one in Precinct One, which includes the central Venice area within the city limits, and passed four to one in Precinct Two that primarily draws voters from Eagle Park Acres, an unincorporated community lying south of Madison, off Route 203.

The small turnout of voters in Eagle Park, however, failed to make any difference in the overall voting.

"I am very disappointed. The parents of Venice school children were conspicuous by their absence," Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said today.

Voters in Precinct One (within Venice city limits) cast 53 yes votes and 177 no votes for the proposed 75 cents per $100 assessed valuation increase in the educational rate and 50 yes and 175 no in defeating the building rate hike of 20 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

Voters in Precinct Two (Eagle Park) cast 28 yes votes to six no for the educational fund increase and 24 yes and six no for the building fund hike.

An unknown number of spoiled ballots was cast at Precinct One, where judges sealed them in bags prior to tabulation. Five spoiled ballots were reported at the Precinct Two polls. "Defeat of the proposed tax referendum would place the Venice Board of Education in the untenable role of trying to provide quality education with no funds. An impossible situation," one board member remarked prior to Saturday's referendum.

The Venice School Board will canvass the votes at Thursday night's regular meeting and presumably discuss what courses of action should now be pursued, Supt. Vickers said today.

"I don't believe the board will do anything drastic until every possible way of getting funds has been exhausted," he said.

Sufficient funds are available to meet the payroll through sometime in March, the administrator said.

It was learned in informal conversations Saturday, some of the board members appeared willing to reintroduce the tax rate increase referendum at a later date, while others seem to feel this was a futile gesture.

It took four attempts to pass a 60-cent tax rate increase in December 1975, that started with an initial effort to get a $1.20 tax hike in June 1973.

The Venice School District beset by rapidly declining assessed valuation lost over $11.1 million in only three years and has faced large deficits in operational funds for several years.

Economy measures have been taken such as cutting 20 teaching positions and three non-teaching positions from the staff in the past 10 years, almost all through attrition. Several programs

Plan group okays zoning

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

The Granite City Plan Commission gave its unanimous approval Thursday afternoon to a proposal by Illinois Power Co. to annex into the city a 427-acre tract zoned for manufacturing and business purposes.

IF officials contended they do not have any customer or customers in mind, at this time, for the industrial tract, but said they believed the land could be developed for industry once it had the proper zoning and city services, such as fire and police protection.

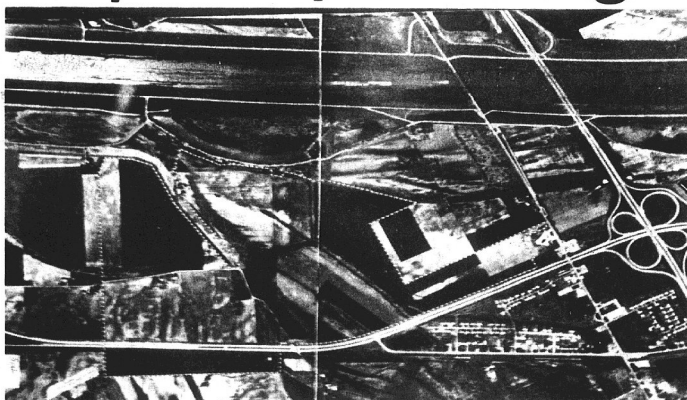

Carl W. Muehlenbruch of Tec-Search, Inc., consulting firm, who is working for Illinois Power in developing a land use study of the property, said the site is ideal for metal-oriented manufacturers as well as others.

He showed several possible ways to divide and use the property, including the possibility of sole occupancy by a firm which would manufacture "construction-type vehicles" capable of hauling heavy materials, such as would be needed for coalmines. A testing area, laboratory and research areas and manufacturing structures are in the plan.

He declined to comment whether such a factory has expressed an interest in the site. Leo Konzen, attorney for IF, warned against speculation that a factory to produce Datsun automobiles may move here.

"We are not here on behalf of Datsun. We are not here against Datsun. We simply had an industrial inquiry (from them). This is not a Datsun-motivated

American Steel is breaking records

The American Steel Foundries plant in Granite City produced at record levels during the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, a report showed today. Production exceeded the previous record, set in 1975.

A study will be made, leading toward a possible expansion.

Works Manager William P. Donovan said the increased production level "resulted mainly from ASF's ability to meet customer requirements." During 1978, approximately 61,000 new freight cars were built in the U.S., compared to 51,000 in the previous year.

The foundry here is the nation's largest producer of cast steel railroad freight car side frames and bolsters. ASF was founded in 1902 through the merger of eight independent steel foundries. The local operation, which originally was known as American Steel Foundry Company, was one of the Christmas drive in its final days

It's only seven days until Christmas Day and the Salvation Army Tree of Lights fund to meet its commitments to help needy families still is lacking $9,000.

Bruce Mort, Tree of Lights chairman, today announced the annual campaign stands at $16,000, with $9,000 needed to reach the $25,000 goal.

A total of 478 Applications has been received by the Salvation Army from those seeking Christmas aid, Mort said. The number of applications represents 1,559 individuals.

The holiday food baskets and toys will be distributed Thursday and Friday, the chairman advised.

Captain Elmer Trapp, Salvation Army commander, assisted by volunteers, last week visited elderly persons at area nursing homes and hospitalized servicemen from all over the United States who are patients at Scott Air Force Base Hospital, Belleville.

More than 2,800 Yuletide mementos were presented to those confined in nursing homes and hospitals.

Area senior citizens enjoyed Christmas dinner Thursday at the Salvation Army Center, the officer advised.

The program started with the meal, followed by a candlelight service and an afternoon of games.

Gifts were presented to each person attending.

Donations to the Tree of Lights fund may be taken in person to the Salvation

Dr. Shaw wants dental school to stay in Alton

President Kenneth A. Shaw of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville announced to the SIU Board of Trustees here Thursday he will recommend that the School of Dental Medicine be located permanently in Alton.

The president said he will submit a formal recommendation to the board for action in February.

In the meantime, he said he will work with the mayor of Alton and other city officials to obtain necessary agreements permitting the use of the university's Shurtleff College campus site for the new dental school facilities.

Dr. Shaw said his decision to recommend the Alton location rather than the main Edwardsville campus is based on three factors: cost differential between Alton and Edwardsville, programmatic considerations and community viability.

The SIUE School of Dental Medicine was established in 1969 and the first class of 24 students was admitted in 1972 in facilities on the former Shurtleff College campus in upper Alton.

The original plan for the school called for completion of a permanent facility on the Edwardsville campus in 1975, but university and state officials later concurred that the school should remain in Alton for a longer duration. In October 1977, the Board of Trustees authorized development of a master plan for the school.

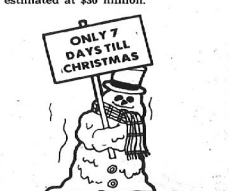

In July, the firm commissioned to prepare the master plan, Graham, Anderson, Probst & White of Chicago, advised that an architectural-engineering report favored location of the permanent facility on the Edwardsville campus, but Dr. Shaw said a number of factors must be considered in preparing the final recommendation.

In his announcement, President Shaw said cost differences as presented in the planning firm's report indicate the Alton site is less than 10 percent more expensive than locating on the main campus, "based on preliminary cost estimates which contain some margin for error."

He emphasized that the university may have to consider multiple-phased construction because state funding may not be available to complete the construction in one project.

Total cost of the new facilities is estimated at $30 million.

Area weather outlook

Considerable cloudiness and warmer today with high in the low 50s. Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight in mid to upper 30s. High Tuesday about 50. Wednesday through Friday little or no chance of precipitation. Turning cool Wednesday with low in the 20s and high about 40. Low Thursday in the teens; high in the 30s. Low Friday in the 20s and high in the 40s.

Progress on I-270 link

When completed, its final link will extend Interstate 270 from the Jefferson Barracks Bridge near Columbia to a connection with existing Interstate I-270 near Glen Carbon.

Once completed in Illinois, Interstate 270 will complete the "outer belt" around the St. Louis metropolitan area.

Contracts were awarded last week to six construction firms.

A $3,432,001 contract was awarded to Hoeffken Brothers, Belleville, for grading, drainage and construction of the west-bound pavement and shoulders on 270 northwest of Columbia.

Illinois Excavators, Red Bud, has a $382,705 contract for construction of 1.29 miles of highway from Township Road 28-A easterly to Illinois Route 3 near Columbia, and the resurfacing of 0.14 miles of the levee. Another contract for $139,866 was awarded to Illinois Excavators for construction of 0.889 miles of Township Road 7 from County Highway 6 west to Township Road 28-A, also near Columbia. Both projects are in Monroe County.

A contract for $1,097,902 was awarded to St. Louis Bridge Co., Arnold, Mo., for a two-span structure on a reinforced concrete pier carrying Podel Road over I-270 in East St. Louis.

Three contracts were awarded for furnishing and stockpiling aesthetic materials to be installed under a number of separate bridge contracts. They are: A $74,448 contract to Halquist Stone Co., Sussex, Wis., for Lannon weather edge masonry to be laminated onto abutments of structures over 270.

A $164,986 award to Staunton (Ill.) Fuel and Materials for granite paving blocks to be used for slope on all structures going over 270.

And, to McCann Construction, Dorsey, Ill., a $10,325 contract for precast concrete panels incised with the Cahokia symbol, to be installed on sides of abutments facing traffic on structures going over Interstate 270.

The completed interstate route—remaining projects total $360 million—is expected to be open to traffic in 1983, Dale L. Klorh, district engineer, said.

Flexible approach in attracting new industry

Annexation of a proposed 427-acre industrial park near Illinois Route Three and Chain of Rocks Road could aid the development of the Illinois Power Co. site and also bolster the local employment and tax base, it was asserted at last week's annexation hearing before the Granite City Council. Flexible development plans were emphasized.

Speakers included Carl E. Mathias, Illinois Power service area manager in Granite City, and Carl Muehlenbruch of Tee-Search, Inc., of Wilmette, Ill., a land use study of the tract.

Muehlenbruch said that for land use purposes, the study by Tee-Search breaks down the potential use of the tract into three categories.

One of these, he said, is the potential of the entire tract being used by one major industrial firm which would build its offices, warehouses and manufacturing facilities on the entire tract. "This would be the ideal situation," he said.

In the second category, the study proposes tracts of varying sizes into what is termed a "medium" category that would provide sites for several smaller industries. The third is broken down into still smaller units for a number of industries and businesses. He said the land use projection divides the land into "blocks" of varying size so that a combination of blocks could be adapted to meet varied requirements of industry or manufacturing firms, depending upon the amount of land needed.

Leo Konzen, attorney for the power firm, explained that the company is seeking a B (business) and M-3 (heavy industry) zoning for the tract, which now is zoned M-2 under county zoning regulations, but also includes some smaller areas that are zoned R-2 and R-3 (residential).

Konzen said that once the land is annexed to the city, the annexation agreement contains the covenants that would require development of the area to be in compliance with all city codes. The covenants of the agreement are more restrictive than those of the present M-2 zoning, he said.

Residents of Chouteau Township and Mitchell were among those attending the meeting and several inquired if the annexation by Granite City would affect the status of their property as to zoning or annexation.

Konzen said the annexation of the Illinois Power Co. property would have no effect on other property adjacent to the land tract.

A representative of the Mitchell Fire Department asked what effect the annexation and development of industry would have on the Mitchell Volunteer Fire Department. Muehlenbruch explained that the area would not be covered by the Mitchell unit once it was annexed to Granite City.

He said industries and businesses usually look into fire insurance ratings in effect in areas they consider occupying.

YMCA trips to shrine, showboat

The Tri-City Area YMCA with funding support from the Southwestern Illinois Area Agency on Aging is featuring two trips this winter. The first, on Jan. 4 from 4 to 9 p.m., will be a tour of the Way of Lights at the Our Lady of the Snows Shrine.

The five-hour tour will include dinner at Our Lady of the Snows, with a selection of chicken or beef stew at a cost of $3.45, a gift shop visit, movies and a tour of the Way of Lights.

"This senior citizen trip has become popular in recent years and the YMCA encourages senior citizens in the Tri-City community to consider this trip," YMCA Executive Director Paul Grennell said.

A second one-day trip will be conducted on Sunday, Feb. 4 to the Goldenrod Showboat for dinner and a theater performance. Registration will start Jan. 8. The show is to be entitled "Under The Bigtop." A bus will leave the First United Presbyterian Church parking lot at 22nd Street and Delmar Avenue at 1 p.m., returning at 6 p.m. Events will include dinner at 1:45 and old-time movies and a show at 3 p.m.

Cost of the trip is $4 for the dinner, pre-paid and registered by Jan. 18.

Both excursions will accommodate 94 passengers, with registration available for the Way of Lights at the RSVP Office in the basement of the YMCA beginning Dec. 18. Each individual is to specify which dinner—chicken or beef.

Crimes increase, but more cases are solved

Major crimes in eight categories increased in Granite City during November, compared to the same month a year ago, but police solved more crimes by arrests last month than they did a year ago, according to a report by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer.

Veizer reported a total of 211 crimes during November showed increases in five categories, a decrease in two and one was unchanged from those of November 1977. During the month, however, police solved a total of 130 cases, up from 112 solved during the same month last year.

The 211 crimes reported during November was an increase of 26 over the total of 185 in the same month in 1977, the report showed.

Crimes reported last month included 70 larceny cases, up from a year ago; 33 assault cases, up from 20; two forcible rape cases, up from one.

There were no homicide cases last year and none in the same month a year ago, but there were 44 auto burglaries, up from 41; and 11 auto thefts, up from nine. There were slight decreases in the number of burglaries, a total of 49 compared to 57 a year ago, and the number of robberies, two compared to three last year.

During the month police solved 58 of the November cases by arrests, and 72 other pending cases for a total of 130. This compared with 31 current cases and 81 pending cases solved during November 1977, the report showed.

There was one fatal accident in the city, 38 traffic accidents in which 65 persons were injured, in addition to 128 accidents involving property damage only. These statistics compare with no fatal accidents, 28 injury accidents in which 38 persons were hurt, and 126 property damage accidents in November 1977.

The one traffic fatality in the city during the month brought to three the total thus far this year, compared to two fatalities during the 11 month period of 1977. Police made a total of 324 arrests during November, more than double the 145 such arrests, up from 99, for a total of 443 arrests of all types, compared to a total of 244 a year ago.

Sixty-two additional charges were filed, for a total of 505 charges of all kinds. In November 1977 police filed 52 additional charges for a total of 296 charges of all kinds in that month.

In the 11 months of this year, police have made a total of 2,845 traffic arrests, up from 2,016 during the same period a year ago. Other arrests during this year total 1,309, up from 1,294 arrests other than traffic a year ago.

These make a total of 4,154 arrests of all types so far this year, compared to 3,310 last year.

So far this year police also have filed 501 additional charges, down from 618 during the same 11-month period last year, making a total of 4,655 charges filed during 1978, up from 3,928 last year.

Home builders see 'challenge'

Edmund Sorenson of Elgin, newly elected president of the Home Builders Association of Illinois, sees 1979 as a challenging year for both home buyers and builders.

The statewide association is comprised of 3,000 home building firms, material suppliers and subcontractors interested in the improvement of the building industry.

The home building industry represents over $4 billion of business to Illinois' economy.

Sorenson said, as he accepted the presidency, "Our industry involves a resource that is needed to provide housing the public wants and needs. We must be especially conscious of all financial programs that can help buyers move into that first home or up to the home of their dreams."

"Housing is the largest and best investment anyone in America can make. The task at hand for our industry is to make that possible."

Education conference

More than 600 persons are in Chicago today and tomorrow to discuss state spending for education, declining student achievement and the role of parents in the Illinois school system. The gathering is called the Governor's Conference on Education.

Governor James R. Thompson convened the conference, the purpose of which is to bring together parents, representatives of government and the educational community to discuss crucial issues in education.

The conference opened at 11 a.m. today with the governor outlining the goals. A general session will deal with a preview of the 81st General Assembly, focusing on education issues that will be deliberated.

Taking part in this session will be State Senators Arthur L. Berman and David C. Shapiro; State Rep. Gene L. Hoffman; Joseph M. Cronin, state superintendent of education; Charles J. Caruso, president of the Illinois Association of School Administrators, and Robert L. Mandeville, director of the Bureau of the Budget.

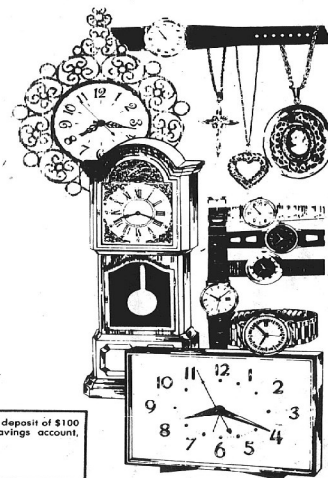

Group discussions are planned on governmental spending levels, minimal student competencies, local control and parental involvement.

Tonight's topic will be "Federal Interest in Illinois Education," featuring Thomas K. Motter, U.S. Office of Education deputy commissioner for elementary-secondary education. Tuesday's schedule includes two general sessions involving reports of panel discussions and reactions to the conference from participants, including Supt. Cronin, School Supt. Hannon of Chicago and Gov. Thompson.

Liquor license hearing today

Representatives of Granite City and of Rico's H. Lounge, 3075 Nameoki Road, were meeting this morning in hearings to determine the status of the lounge's liquor license.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, acting as the city's liquor control commissioner, ordered the lounge closed last week for seven days and set hearings for today to determine if the license should be revoked or suspended. An alleged mob disturbance in the parking lot in which patrons scuffled with police and security guards led to actions on the liquor license.

Suspect held in robbery

Two men attempted to rob the 15 Acres Lounge, 906 West Chain of Rocks Road, at 11:03 p.m. Thursday.

A car pulled up to the package liquor window, one man got out and said, "Touch anything and I will blow your head off," according to authorities.

He was given an undetermined amount of money and started for the car.

The owner at the drive-in window, reported he fired three shots at the fleeing man, believed from Missouri.

The owner said he believed he hit one of the men.

A sheriff's department spokesman said one suspect is in custody, but charges have not been filed, pending further investigation.

The second-graders will present a playlet entitled "The Night Before Christmas," under the direction of

25th-year honors for the Terrells

About 600 attended a surprise 25th wedding anniversary reception Saturday afternoon at the Granite City Township Building honoring Mr. and Mrs. Bill H. Terrell, Oklawaha Drive.

Arriving after most of the group of business, church and organizational associates, friends and relatives had gathered, Terrell and his wife, JoAnn, were escorted to the stage, where the quarter-century was traced in words and in a simulation of the wedding.

The observance was arranged by the couple's three children, who were senior at the University of Missouri in Columbia, Tami, a sophomore at the same university, and Robbie, a kindergarten pupil at Nameoki School.

The program included recenies to college days and to Terrell's Army service.

A teacher and coach in Granite City schools beginning in 1956, he entered the insurance field on a full-time basis in 1960 and is area manager of the Franklin Life Insurance Company.

Both honorees are members of many local groups and Terrell is vice-president of the Tri-Cities Area United Way, in which he has served successfully as general campaign chairman.

The family is active in Suburban Baptist Church and the Granite City Rotary Club and Rotary-Anns.

The Terrells were married Dec. 19, 1953, in Murray, Ky. Photographs taken then and in later years were part of an extensive picture display.

Anniversary cakes were served to those attending portions of the four-hour reception.

Christmas program at Lake

The public has been invited to attend the annual Christmas program at Lake Elementary School, 2301 East 23rd St., which will be held Tuesday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Faye Hester, PTA publicity chairman.

Following a brief business session, Mrs. Beverlee Williams, one of Lake's vocal music teachers, will direct the sixth-grade classes in a program of Christmas music.

The second-graders will present a playlet entitled "The Night Before Christmas," under the direction of second-grade teacher, Mrs. Linda Irwin. The children will be accompanied at the piano by another Lake teacher, Mrs. Joan Shaffner.

Refreshments will be served following the presentations, and Santa Claus will be on hand for "pictures with Santa."

These instant pictures will be offered for $1.50 each, and are not limited to one child per photo. Parents who wish are invited to bring their own cameras.

The PTA is sponsoring the showing of the full-length Walt Disney film, "Blackbeard's Ghost" and several cartoons on Friday, the last day of school prior to the Christmas holidays. Room parties will be held the last hour of the school day, with room mothers assisting the PTA and teachers.

Motorist beaten

Garnett Williams, 2808 Birch St. reported at 5:45 a.m. Saturday he was assaulted at 25th Street and Nameoki Road.

Williams told police he purchased a pack of cigarettes at a service station and pulled out behind a small vehicle.

He told police he was heading south on Nameoki Road and tried to pass the small car in front of him twice. He said the small car stopped suddenly in front of him, causing him to stop abruptly.

One of the two men in the car in front of Williams got out of the car and came back to Williams.

The man grabbed Williams, striking him several times and breaking Williams' glasses as he pulled at Williams, "I don't like anybody following me."

Corps helps save endangered eagles

A $2 million U.S. Army Corps of Engineers contract for dike repair at Lock and Dam 25 on the Mississippi River at Winfield, Mo., has been awarded with special provisions to allow for a wintering population of bald eagles.

The lands and waters in the vicinity are heavily used by what is considered to be one of the largest concentrations of the endangered species outside of Alaska.

Recognizing this, the St. Louis District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, wrote provisions in the contract for major repair at the facility to allow for protecting the birds.

The contract explicitly prohibited work at the lower end of the dike from Oct. 1 to April 1 — and to require approval by a Corps wildlife biologist on areas selected as truck turn-arounds or maneuvering spots. The latter clause helps to save stands of large trees frequented by the eagles.

The contractor, Luhr Bros. of Columbia, Ill., agreed to the terms and to submit to on-site inspections. The Winfield site is known to harbor at least 100 of the birds who regularly feed on fish stunned while passing through the lock or dam gates, especially when most of the river freezes over and the only open water is immediately below the structure.

They also rest and sun themselves in the large trees adjacent to Sandy Slough and Chute where the work was under way.

Early reports indicate that the move has been credited with allowing the birds to remain almost totally undisturbed. Work on the dike is continuing at other areas removed from the eagle habitat.

Missouri and Illinois have the largest total populations of the bald eagle in the contiguous 48 states. It is estimated that about 1,000 — a third of the total population — winter in the Upper Mississippi River and Illinois River valleys.

The Corps' action is being called another step in its effort to enable "man and nature to work in harmony."

Secretary students view skit

"It Shouldn't Happen to a Boss" was the topic of a skit performed by the senior class members of the Madison Chapter of Future Secretaries Association at its December meeting.

Those participating in the presentation were Tammy Lynn, Donna Crook, Sharon DeLoach, Debbie Sutt, Cheryl Finch, Annette Walker, Pam Barefield and Martha Foreshee.

The meeting was called to order by Tammy Lynn the chapter president, and minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A fund-raising activity for the month of February was discussed and planned. High school sponsors made it known to the membership that, if the activity goes well, each member will be given an opportunity to earn back a part of their yearly dues. Program booklets for the year were passed out and discussed. The importance of maintaining a grade of no less than a "C" in business courses was discussed with the group.

It was noted that each member will be permitted to invite one male student from Madison High School to the February meeting.

Lawmakers 'sitting tight' on pay hikes

By MIKE KIENZLER

Springfield Bureau

Illinois lawmakers refused to reduce two-week-old state pay increases Thursday, even though Gov. James Thompson said he was willing to bow to President Carter's pleas and an avalanche of taxpayers' teabags.

Thompson proposed that lawmakers roll back the raises to conform to a plan he said had been agreed to by Alfred Kahn, Carter's anti-inflation chief.

The governor made two closed-door pitches to legislative leaders, asking them to agree to a gradual raise plan.

But, after party caucuses in both chambers, the leaders told the governor his proposal had no chance Thursday.

Whether it ever will apparently depends on the number of lawmakers who can be convinced to support the rollback in the next few weeks.

Thompson was conciliatory toward legislators and apologetic to the public in a press conference after it was clear the General Assembly planned to take no action Thursday.

"For the last couple of weeks I've been reading my mail and listening to press comments in Illinois."

"I've been searching for a way in which Illinois can stay in compliance with the president's guidelines for pay increases and yet still satisfy the majority of legislators' view that they deserve some kind of compensation increase," Thompson said.

Members of the new legislature are slated to be paid $28,000 annually next year, up from $26,000 at present.

The pay package approved two weeks ago also gives $8,000 raises to elected executive branch officials and judges and increases of from $2,000 to $8,000 to a variety of appointed officeholders.

Thompson's plan would phase in raises for the executive officers and lawmakers over several years, up to the maximums set in the previously enacted raise package.

Judicial raises, which took effect Dec. 1, can no longer be changed.

Under the new plan, lawmakers' raises would be $4,000, instead of $8,000 in 1979.

They would receive about $2,000 more in each of the next two years, bringing them to the $28,000 figure by January 1981.

The speed at which executive branch officials would reach their new pay levels would vary with their current salaries.

In Thompson's case, he would be paid $55,000 next year and would reach his maximum of $58,000 in 1980.

Raises for other officials might take up to four years to reach the levels of the present package.

Thompson's proposal is permissible under Carter's 7 percent limit on annual pay increases because lawmakers and executive officers are considered part of the state's "management group."

Wage hikes for many others in the raise of all below 7 percent, Thompson said.

Thompson cooperated with lawmakers when the present raises were enacted.

Although he vetoed the raise proposal, he did so by remote control from South Carolina, allowing legislators to override the veto only a few hours after the raises were proposed.

The governor also defended what the president has asked the raises during the first week of December.

But he reversed himself after fierce public opposition, as well as after criticism from Carter and Kahn.

The most recent indication of the voters' attitude has been the 14,000 teabags — reminders of the Boston Tea Party — that have flooded into Thompson's office since last Monday.

Thompson admitted he was unprepared for the massive public response to the raises.

"I had no idea what people's reaction was going to be," he said. "I'm on a different wavelength, I guess."

Although declining to criticize legislators for not accepting his proposal Thursday, he said he hopes that continuing public pressure will convince lawmakers to change their minds before Jan. 10, when the new legislature is seated and the presently scheduled pay raises take effect.

"I understand their sentiment, because they believe they are entitled to a reasonable pay raise," Thompson said. "We disagree at the moment how to achieve it."

In fairness to the legislators who learned of this only this afternoon, I think they ought to be given a reasonable period of time to talk about this proposal among themselves, to talk about this with their constituents and to communicate back to me whether there's any change in their position," he said. "I think they ought to be able to do that without me waving any big sticks at this moment."

Lawmakers currently are not scheduled to return to Springfield until Jan. 10. Theoretically, the current legislature could act on the raises for the General Assembly then.

However, Thompson and other constitutional officers are to be inaugurated Jan. 8.

Because the state constitution bars changes in pay during an official's term, the executive branch raises apparently will stand unless Thompson or legislative leaders call a special session of the General Assembly before Jan. 8.

"What this really is is an attempt on my part to do what the president has asked Illinois to do," Thompson said, calling his suggestion "the best way out of what now appears to be a bad situation."

Thompson and others said the rollback had support from Senate Republicans and reaction from Democratic senators was mixed.

Both House Republicans and Democrats opposed any changes in the raises, they said.

In House debate later, on another bill, Rep. John Matijevich, D-North Chicago, accused Thompson of trying to get out from under criticism from the press and the public.

"When the media reacted to the raises, Matijevich said, 'I'm jumped.'"

"If he ever gets to be president, let's hope we're never in a war, because all he'd do is retreat and retreat."

Allege lottery ticket altered

The Illinois Department of Revenue filed a criminal complaint last week charging a St. Louis resident with altering and passing an Illinois State Lottery ticket in an attempt to fraudulently obtain a $500 prize.

Marilyn Green, 23, was charged in St. Clair County. The case will be prosecuted by Assistant St. Clair County State's Attorney John Barcevic.

She allegedly brought an altered ticket into the East St. Louis lottery office in July and filled out a claim form requesting the $500 prize. The ticket was discovered by the Illinois claims validation section in its verification process.

Altering a lottery ticket is a Class 4 felony, which carries upon conviction a penalty of one to three years imprisonment and a fine of up to $10,000.

Four take dog from GC man

A Granite City man told police Thursday that four men came to his apartment and demanded he give them his Doberman Pinscher dog, valued at $800.

The men, who belong to a motorcycle gang in another community, said the local man had "driven a friend of ours crazy, that's why she is in the hospital."

The men left with the dog after one showed a weapon and threatened its owner.

AERIAL PHOTOS on Horseshoe Lake are explained by Robert Thornberry, site planner for the Illinois Department of Conservation, standing, during a meeting on the lake park here last week. Local and state officials urged a higher priority for the park in the department's funding while Thornberry urged patience during the extensive studies which are underway.

December top month for burglaries, robberies

December normally is the month that the largest number of armed robberies occur in stores and burglaries occur in homes, according to Madison Police Chief Donald Bridick.

"Every business in the city of Madison is equipped with an alarm button direct to the police station and should the situation arise store owners should not hesitate to use it. Even though the person may have left, activate the button so police response time can be shortened," Bridick said. Bridick, in speaking to the Madison City Council last week, said, "Persons at home should double check their locks on doors and windows."

"The residents of Madison should not hesitate to call the police if they see someone or some action in their neighborhood that seems unusual."

"If possible, the store clerk or resident making a call should try to remember as much about the person as possible, such as clothing and physical features," Chief Bridick said.

The monthly crime comparison figures indicate a 22 percent decrease in crime for the month of November 1978, compared to the month of November 1977. With 1977 figures first followed by 1978: Robberies are down, 24; assault and batteries, down 10-6; thefts, down 11-7; auto thefts, down 6-2; there were no criminal homicides or forcible rapes in either month, November 1977 or 1978.

Burglaries showed an increase from three in November 1977 to 9 during November 1978.

Study or action on lake park?

Study or action? Both viewpoints were advocated at last week's discussion here on the progress—or lack of progress—in developing Horseshoe Lake State Park.

The gathering of 40 persons heard State Senator Sam Vadala urge faster park development and broader usage. He pledged to try to obtain an appropriation for a state dredge if the machine would be used to maintain an adequate water depth in Horseshoe Lake. Others present included Congressman Melvin Price and State Representative Everett Steele.

Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk was among those saying that the project has been "over-studied" over a long period of time.

Col. John S. Wilkes of the Army Corps of Engineers outlined a wide range of studies currently in progress relating to the lake park.

Robert Thornberry, Illinois Conservation Department site planner, stressed the complexity of the task and an almost endless list of environmental, drainage and other factors that must be kept in mind.

Groups represented in addition to the department included the Environmental Protection Agency and Southern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

Thornberry explained that the state has spent $3.5 million in land acquisition and $500,000 in capital improvements, including the roadway, causeway and other work. Funds have been limited because the Department of Conservation's annual budgets have been reduced and Horseshoe Lake has been reduced to other state park projects for the available funds.

He noted $350,000 is appropriated in the department's next fiscal year budget for capital improvements at Horseshoe Lake, subject to approval by the legislature. A pole storage building and a mobile home office on the site are among the immediate improvements planned, as well as limited land acquisition.

There was a great deal of discussion on the delta being formed at the southern end of the lake where the Cahokia Drainage Canal overflows into the lake during high rains.

David L. Gross, associate geologist with the Illinois State Geological Survey, said satellite photos show the last major buildup of the delta occurred during the flooding of 1973 and said major growth there should be expected only about every three or four years.

Vadala asked the cost of constructing a sediment trap to stop the influx of the sediment from the Cahokia Canal and was told the cost would have to be computed.

Congressman Price noted that recent federal legislation would have provided about $7 million which could have been used for Horseshoe Lake, but President Jimmy Carter vetoed the appropriation.

"The item for Horseshoe Lake was not vetoed by the president, but the whole bill was vetoed," Price said, adding he will study whether the appropriation can be resubmitted.

Thornberry said that if additional funds were available, the Department of Conservation would conduct studies for recreational boating, the stocking of "rough" fish, such as catfish, and other projects. "We don't have those dollars now," he said.

Pollution of the water also was discussed and it was noted several studies are underway or planned to determine the source of pollution.

Recent studies have shown no reason for "fish kills" and very little suspended iron in the water. Officials agreed the new Granite City Steel wastewater treatment facility is discharging clean water into the lake and is not a source of pollution.

SWIMMERS plan to start a six-month study in January in Granite City to determine what kinds of pollution enter the lake through storm water runoff. Samples will be taken from the box-culvert on Bromley Avenue south of 23rd Street, which is the main terminal for storm runoff from the area bounded by 22nd, 27th and Adams streets and Washington Avenue.

The EPA plans to study the Nameoki Drainage Ditch to determine what pollution is brought into the lake from that ditch.

Russell Robinson, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District board, warned against stopping draining from the ditches. "Where are we going to send this water if not through the Nameoki Ditch?" he asked.

Thornberry said the Department of Conservation is committed to receiving water from the drainage ditches, but noted the federal 208 Clean Water Act will probably require treatment of stormwater runoff in the Nameoki and Cahokia ditches before it reaches the lake.

Nichols suggested the state speedup its land acquisition program and purchase the Quality Sand Co. facility on its land. The sand company already has a dredging machine and has proved that the rock and the sand under the sludge is valuable and can be sold.

Nichols also suggested the state consider trading him land on the west edge of the lake for the land he currently owns, which is dividing halves of the proposed park.

David P. Farney, chairman of the chamber's Sewer and Drainage committee, closed the meeting, saying he feels some valuable ideas were exchanged. He suggested everyone involved in implementing park plans think more of action and less of planning.

He also supported efforts to get a dredging machine working in the lake as soon as possible.

"We'll rest easier if a dredging machine is working and we know the lake is being cleaned out, no matter how slowly," he said.

JUVENILES CAUGHT

Four boys, ages 10 to 13, face possible juvenile charges after they allegedly vandalized the auto store of Patricia Gowan, a Marshall School teacher, in the school's parking lot last week. A custodian caught one boy, which led to identifying the others. The car's windshield and rear view mirror were broken and there were numerous scratches on the driver's door.

HOME BURGLARIZED

It was discovered Thursday afternoon that the home of Mrs. Kate Hayes, 1725 Fifth St., Madison, was burglarized while she was away from her home. A list of items taken is being prepared for the police.

'Y' drive success

The Tri-City Area YMCA concluded its formal membership campaign Tuesday with a final report meeting and award presentations. This year's campaign had a theme of "Star Wars," with Rebel and Empire teams competing for number of members and dollar value.

The annual membership campaign provides an opportunity for YMCA members to promote active participation in the "Y." This year's campaign was a success in that 103 new and renewal memberships were produced, and many individuals were contacted on the value of YMCA membership.

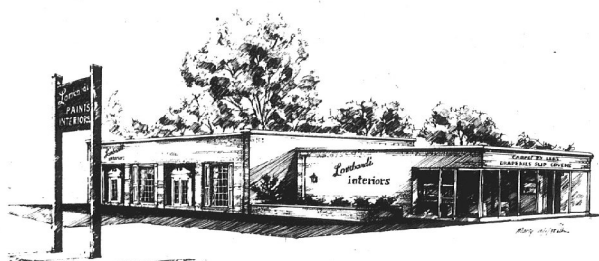

The official ending date of the campaign is Dec. 18, by which time new members may receive a 10 percent reduction in membership fees.

The largest single membership produced during this campaign was advanced racquetball court time. Individuals interested in obtaining a YMCA membership may contact the staff at the YMCA or any active member and ask for a tour of the facilities and membership information. Thirty-seven served in the campaign.

The YMCA is a Tri-Cities Area United Way agency, with programs and memberships partially funded through the United Way.

Douglas Nowak, 17, of 154 Briarwood Lane, was admitted at St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment of a fractured jaw, cuts to the mouth and chin and multiple contusions. The injuries were sustained in an auto accident last week.

Miss Illinois Teen-Ager candidates to apply now

Girls between 13 and 18 years of age are invited to participate in the 8th annual Miss Illinois Teen-Ager Pageant to be held at the Holiday Inn, Decatur, March 23, 24 and 25, 1979.

Deadline for applications to be received by Martha A. Smith, director, 1635 N. Robinson, Danville, Ill. 61832, is Jan. 1.

The Illinois pageant is the official state preliminary to the Miss National Teen-Ager Pageant, scheduled to take place in August 1979 at Atlantic City.

The Illinois winner will receive a $3,000 scholarship from Eureka College, Eureka, Ill., a $500 cash scholarship and an all-expense paid trip to Atlanta for six days to compete for the title of Miss National Teen-Ager, which will be nationally telecast.

Contestants are judged on scholastic achievement and leadership, poise and personality and appearance. There is no talent or swimsuit competition.

Participation in the pageant encourages teen interest in scholastic activities, leadership and community activities, the director said.

The pageant theme is "What's Right About America" and a $10,000 cash scholarship is awarded the National Essay winner.

Each contestant will take part in the Volunteer Community Service Program which is designed to promote teen involvement and participation in community affairs.

Adella Sue Jones of Pekin, the reigning Miss Illinois Teen-Ager, will be part of the state contest activities and will crown the 1979 winner. Other former state winners will be present.

Last year, state pageants were held in 50 states and the District of Columbia, when more than 20 years of tuition scholarships were awarded and over $30,000 in cash scholarships and cash awards were paid to participants in state pageants. Each state winner also receives a full-tuition modeling course scholarship from Barbizon, International. Further information also may be secured by calling 217-446-4155.

Car hits truck, driver; 4 hurt

Four were injured when the car of Chris Leonard, 28, of 2509 Angela Drive, struck the rear of a trash truck and the driver of the truck, who was emptying a trash can into the back of the truck in the 600 block of East Chain of Rocks Road at 5:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Norman Smith, 39, South Roxana, said he was emptying the can into the truck when he turned and was struck by the car, which then hit the truck. Smith suffered cuts, abrasions and possible broken bones to his legs and lower body and was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Leonard suffered injuries to his left knee, right ankle, right hand and right thumb and a bruise to his right eyebrow and was admitted.

Two passengers in his car also were injured and were admitted to the hospital. Cheryl Briggs, 25, of 2425 Willow Ave. suffered a broken right shoulder, abrasions to her chin, forearm and right wrist, a cut to her nose and pain to her left shoulder.

Larry McKee, 28, of 2529 Delmar Ave., suffered back pain, multiple abrasions to his forehead and possible head injuries.

Guidelines to a safer holiday

It may be the "Season to be Jolly" with Christmas just ahead, but Police Chief Ronald J. Veizer said the International Association of Chiefs of Police emphasizes that it can be a season of tragedy.

Accident statistics during the year show that over half of the traffic fatalities involve alcohol.

"Add to that Christmas revelry, heavy holiday traffic, extra pedestrian activity and last-minute, hurry-up shopping and we have the makings of heartache and disaster," Veizer said.

"This year we're accelerating traffic enforcement, alerting emergency medical personnel and are appealing to the public to ask each citizen to apply a little preventive 'know-how' to avoid holiday tragedies," Chief Veizer pointed out.

Special know-how guidelines in clude:

Plan enough time to cope with crowded streets and stores on last minute shopping trips. Keep your temper under control.

If you are a pedestrian, be aware that motorists may not see you, especially in snow or rainy weather.

If you plan a party, serve food with the drinks and discourage over-indulgence.

If you or a friend have been drinking, arrange to have someone else do the driving.

"And above all," Chief Veizer emphasized, "the best present you can give a loved one is you. So don't forget your basic safety know-how, even in the spirit of the holidays!"

Donovan, aides are honored

A plaque recognizing William P. Donovan's successful leadership of this fall's Tri-Cities Area United Way fund campaign was presented to him during a luncheon for drive division chairmen Wednesday at Charlie's Restaurant. The chairman is the American Steel Foundries works manager.

United Way President William F. Winter praised Donovan's direction of a campaign that raised a record total of more than $60,000.

Donovan, host at the luncheon, presented awards to Drive Vice-Chairmen George Knecht and Mickey Chastovich and to the heads of fund-raising divisions.

Explorers to offer aid at GC shopping centers

By VALERIE EVENEDEN
Press-Record Staff Writer
A crying child is comforted until a parent can be found; a stalled auto blocking traffic is pushed to one side by willing hands; and snow and ice are cleared from the windows of a senior citizen's car.

These helpful acts were accomplished with a smile by member of Explorer Post 10-33 during the pre-Christmas season last year. And, the young people are planning to play the role of "Good Samaritan" once again this year, beginning Friday night.

At this time last December, Quad-Cityans were digging out following a 3.5-inch snowfall on top of a severe cold wave that left streets ice covered and hazardous.

Schools were reopening after being closed for two days due to lack of bus transportation.

Harried shoppers lost children or left their car keys inside vehicles, slipped on frozen sidewalks and dropped packages or couldn't find a scraper to remove accumulated snow and ice.

Explorers from Granite City's law enforcement Post 10-33 plodded through the snow at local shopping centers, rendering assistance in many ways to shoppers in distress, a service the post had performed in other years.

Retail merchants in Bellemore Village, Nameoki Village and Crossroads Plaza shopping centers appreciated the efforts of the local young people and requested the Explorers' help once again. Officer Friendly Fred Hoffman, Post 10-33 advisor, said this week.

The 25 boys and girls began their patrols Friday night at the three shopping centers and will continue the service each evening from 6 to 9 o'clock through Christmas Eve, Dec. 24.

"Post members will actively assist citizens with missing children, auto problems or any similar service," Officer Hoffman said.

Two-person teams will be assigned to the three main shopping centers. Each will maintain close communications with the others and the post adviser via citizen's band radios, the police officer explained.

Incidents in which the Explorers were involved last year were recalled by the adviser, who said each illustrates a different way the patrols can function.

At Bellemore Village Shopping Center a lady alone in her car discovered she had a flat tire on the vehicle and turned off the ignition while still in a traffic lane.

The auto refused to start up again, so the Explorers pushed the car out of the stalled line of traffic, changed the flat tire and helped the grateful motorist on her way.

At Crossroads Plaza center, an Explorer found a 4-year-old girl walking alone in the sub-freezing weather. She was crying, shivering with the cold and very miserable.

The Explorers comforted the child and began searching for her father, eventually finding him in Central Hardware store.

In Nameoki Village Shopping Center a family came out of the cinema to find their vehicle had been struck and damaged by a hit-and-run driver.

A short time earlier an Explorer had observed the accident, saw the second auto leave the scene and had written down its description and license number. The matter was cleared up the same evening, Officer Hoffman said.

"Our young people will be in uniform and are willing to help you if a problem occurs," the post adviser said. "Look for us. We'll be there."

Explorer Post 10-33 is sponsored by the Granite City Police Department for youth between the ages of 14 to 19.

Elderly veterans may get higher pensions

Elderly pensioners who this year must complete a Veterans Administration annual income report may find they qualify for higher pensions, VA officials have announced.

The agency is taking extra steps to provide any assistance these older veterans and surviving spouses may need in completing the questionnaire, VA chief Max Cleland said. "We have asked all major national veterans organizations to help us assist pensioners age 72 and older in filling out the income form and, of course, all our local VA offices are staffed with benefits counselors who are standing by to provide any assistance requested," Cleland added.

Because VA pensions for disabilities not related to military service are based on income, pension recipients must report the amount of their income from other sources to VA annually, Cleland explained. Exemptions from the report in the past were veterans age 72 and over who had been on the pension rolls during two consecutive calendar years. Their exemptions meant that they did not have to file a full report, but the law required them to report any material changes in income.

But starting Jan. 1, 1979, the over-72 group — must complete the full VA income questionnaire annually. A new law makes the report necessary, Cleland said. Among other changes effective Jan. 1, it raises the amount a pensioner may receive from other sources and still qualify for a pension.

"We have found through a survey," VA reported, "that some veterans were not taking advantage of certain allowable exemptions from income that might qualify them for higher pensions. Some others apparently did not understand that they were obligated to report changes in income."

Still another reason for the new reporting requirement is that the law permits those already on pension rolls to choose between the current and new systems of computing pensions.

Those pensioners who choose to continue the railroad system will keep the rate of pension established as of Dec. 31, 1978, provided they qualify under the new higher income ceilings — $5,430 for a veteran with dependents and $4,038 for a single veteran. Fluctuations in income below these levels will not affect pensions. They will also be permitted to deduct unusual medical expenses from income, and some income and assets of the veteran's spouse need not be counted.

The new system effective Jan. 1, 1979, considers both husband's and wife's income in determining pension eligibility. Help in choosing the system that will best suit the individual is available from benefits counselors in VA and in veterans service organizations. VA is requiring its personnel to recommend to each pensioner the system that is most advantageous to him or her.

It is most important, VA officials emphasized, that older veterans understand that they cannot receive pensions in 1979 unless the completed questionnaire on income is returned.

$50,000 bond in Madison burglary case

Jerry Lee Hunter, 22, of St. Louis, is being held in Madison County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond on a charge of burglary.

The bond was set Thursday afternoon. Hunter allegedly burglarized the home of Louis and Dorothy Slabo, 1821 Third St., Madison, last week.

A neighbor telephoned police about a possible burglary in progress.

Officer Frank Papa arrived at the scene and entered through the rear door. The burglar heard the police officer, and fled out the front door by going through it, breaking the glass, as Officer Papa pursued him.

Papa called to him to stop and fired one warning shot in the air. The man kept running.

The suspect was apprehended at the Broadway viaduct as Venice and additional Madison police and a railroad detective joined the chase.

An undetermined amount of jewelry is believed to have been taken and dropped by the thief during the foot chase, police said.

Business Women seek 'Young Career Woman'

The Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club is actively searching for candidates for its Young Career Woman program, Lois Wetton, BFW president, announced today.

The program was established by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs to seek out and honor outstanding young women in business and the professions.

Mrs. Wetton said the 1979 Young Career Woman project will be under the leadership of Janet Davinroy, a teacher at Granite City High School North and a BFW member.

A candidate does not have to be a member of the local business club to be chosen for the honor, Mrs. Davinroy stressed.

In order to qualify a young woman must be between the ages of 21 and 30 (inclusive). Currently be employed or have been employed in business or the professions with at least one year of full-time experience in her career field.

Outstanding in scholastic work, community service and/or church work. Be living, working, training or continuing her education in the area served by BFW state federation she represents (Illinois).

Partial solution for homes needing sewer connections

Prospects of Blue Spruce Court and Rita Court obtaining sanitary sewer service brightened last week when the Madison County Special Sewer Committee agreed to do all it can to include them.

About 30 residents of the two streets, located near Morrison Road, attended a meeting of the committee, held at the Chouteau Town Hall. They said they are scheduled to pay sewer taxes but had not been assured of service.

Ed Juneau, chief engineer for the sewer project, noted the plans were submitted to the state Feb. 5, 1976, and only planned and recorded subdivisions and residential areas were included in the plans.

Blue Spruce Court was not platted until Aug. 31, 1976, and Rita Court was platted even later, Juneau said, concluding, "That's the reason you're not in it." Half of the residents will be able to link with the sewers for the streets behind them, but half are excluded in the existing plans.

He said additions since then are not eligible for state grant funds because "the state won't use its money to help a developer develop his land."

"The committee will do everything it can to help you, but I am equally sure the state will not help you financially."

He also said he feels it is unfortunate the developer of the subdivision did not provide sanitary sewers in anticipation of the county sewer construction.

One resident of the subdivision asked if he and his neighbors could petition to be removed from the special sewer taxing district, saying, "I want out now."

Juneau responded that he doubted the state Environmental Protection Agency would allow anyone to detach.

He said the state views the project not as a sewer program, but as a health project. Health hazards to everyone in the sewer district will be reduced by the elimination of most septic tanks, Juneau explained.

Walter "Dick" Sparks, supervisor of Chouteau Township and a member of the sewer committee, said he feels that residents who do not get sewers will likely have recourse to the courts.

"The committee and I will be the first to join you in a lawsuit to see why you don't get sewers. I am sure that when people are being discriminated against or trampled, there is some way in the law to help them."

Sparks noted that the state last week indicated it would not provide additional funds for subdivisions constructed since 1972, and that the $5 million the county has available for its share of the project is all committed and may not be enough to complete it.

Persons who refused to give free easements and those who tied up the project with a lawsuit were blamed for increasing the cost of the project and straining the demands on the local share of the funds.

The lawsuit also was blamed for the delay since 1972 in which subdivisions such as Blue Spruce Court and Rita Court were constructed with septic tanks, since developers were unsure whether the sewer system would become a reality.

After the committee voted unanimously to do everything it could to solve the inequity for those who will not get sewers, one man commented, "I'm satisfied with the answer. I'm not happy, but I'm satisfied."

The committee's new chairman, Louis Whitsell, said the residents could continue to attend the sewer committee's public meetings to follow its progress in solving the problem.

He called future meetings for the second and fourth Wednesday of every month, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Pontoon Beach Village Hall.

After the delegation of residents left, Whitsell asked Juneau to prepare a cost estimate for serving them. Juneau indicated part of $13,000 house fire Wednesday

Cause of a fire at 4:20 p.m. Wednesday that resulted in $13,000 damage to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Huffine, 2457 Center St., still is not known today.

Damage was estimated at $8,000 to the building and $5,000 to contents.

SHED BURGLARIZED

About $150 worth of tools was stolen from the storage shed at the home of William Cobleigh, 2710D Center St. last week. Taken were an electric drill, extension cords and a utility belt containing hand tools. The lock was removed from the door and could not be found.

The problem could be solved by putting a sewer line between Morrison Road and Blue Spruce Court for about the same cost as the planned lateral lines under Morrison Road to serve those on the south side.

That would solve the problem for those on the north side of Blue Spruce Court, but not for the others, he added.

Half of Rita Court is to be served by the sewer north of Dwight Street, he added.

Although the committee members expressed doubt that local funds would be sufficient to add another line between Rita and Blue Spruce courts, Whitsell said the cost estimate should be made. "If we find out how much it will cost, that will be the first step," he concluded.

However, as some legislators pointed out, if he was really opposed to defeat it, he would not have agreed to the instant veto.

If Thompson had withheld action only one week and given taxpayers an opportunity to comment on the bill, it is unlikely that the sponsors could have retained the votes to override the veto.

When a schedule of raises similar to those voted was proposed earlier this year, during the regular session of the legislature, a public outcry caused legislators, most of whom were then facing the electorate in the fall, to refrain from any action on the bill.

For example, numerous

Pay raise tactics alienate taxpayers

(Commentary)

Press-Record Springfield Bureau In an orchestrated series of actions on a single day, members of the Illinois General Assembly voted themselves a 40 percent pay raise and gave substantial increases to judges, elected state officials and the governor's cabinet and some other appointed officials.

Gov. James Thompson vetoed the measure immediately from 1,000 miles away, and the legislators overrode the veto.

The raises will become effective in January for practically all the officials except 19 state senators who will be at mid-term then.

It is obvious that the majority of the legislators — those supporting the raises — felt that if the increases could not be accomplished by instant action, they would not be approved.

There was time for the public to react and let their feelings be known, some of those who voted for the bill would feel the pressure and change their position.

In light of that, Gov. Thompson's veto of the measure was a charade. His action is a violation of the intent of the constitutional provision forbidding them to increase pay during their term of letters were vehement in their opposition to the pay boosts.

But in keeping with their past practice, a majority of the legislators, once safely past the election, came back and voted themselves more money for the new term in which most of them have been re-elected.

Some of those voting for the bill are lame ducks, either having chosen not to seek re-election or having been defeated last month.

When the new salaries take effect it will have been four years since those officials' pay was last raised. On that basis, some logical arguments for an increase could be made.

There are difficulties in getting capable people to take some jobs because higher pay is available in the professions or private business.

But this is no excuse for the legislators to vote themselves a 40 percent increase to $28,000 a year for what ought to be — and is for most of them — a part-time job.

It is no excuse for them to take such action in a lame duck session, to raise the salaries for a term for which the election is already past.

His action is a violation of the intent of the constitutional provision forbidding them to increase pay during their term of office. Not only does this action cause taxpayers to feel deceived but it also flies in the face of efforts by President Carter to control inflation.

People high in government should be leading the way in the inflation fight; instead, the Illinois legislature has thumbed its nose at the president.

What will be the reaction to this by state employees, many of whom don't make as much money as the raises the legislators have voted for themselves and others? Through their unions they are likely to be demanding substantially more pay.

After all, why should they cooperate with the anti-inflation efforts when the big-wigs don't? What will be the average citizen's reaction? "If the public officials can get those big pay boosts, why can't I," he can say with much logic. "It's my tax money that's going to help pay the $8 million a year for the new salaries."

In 10 years the legislators have raised their own pay from $9,000 a year to $28,000. They have instituted a per diem payment to themselves of $36 a day for the days they are in session. They have boosted their mileage allowance from 15 cents a mile to 20 cents.

And then, after the next election, they will give themselves another raise because they've been working such long hours.

The people have been trying to tell their public officials this year that what they want is a leaner government — less taxes, less spending, less government.

The Illinois General Assembly appears not to have gotten the message. Neither does Gov. Thompson, in spite of his sponsorship of the tax and spending ceilings proposition; if he had, he would not have gone along with the instant action.

It is sad, because the only result can be further alienation of the people of Illinois toward their state government and probably toward government at all levels.

All of that adds up to well over a 300 percent increase in state income taxes, much more than keeping up with inflation.

Many legislators will argue that with the institution of annual sessions their duties and their number of days in session have increased. We agreed with that to some extent, but the truth is that they are the ones who determine the number of days they are in session.

They make their own problems by introducing ridiculous numbers of bills, by haggling for weeks over leadership positions, and by piddling away much of the session.

If they acted on other measures with the dispatch they demonstrated on their own pay raises Nov. 29, they could cut in half — maybe even by nine-tenths — the number of days they are in session.

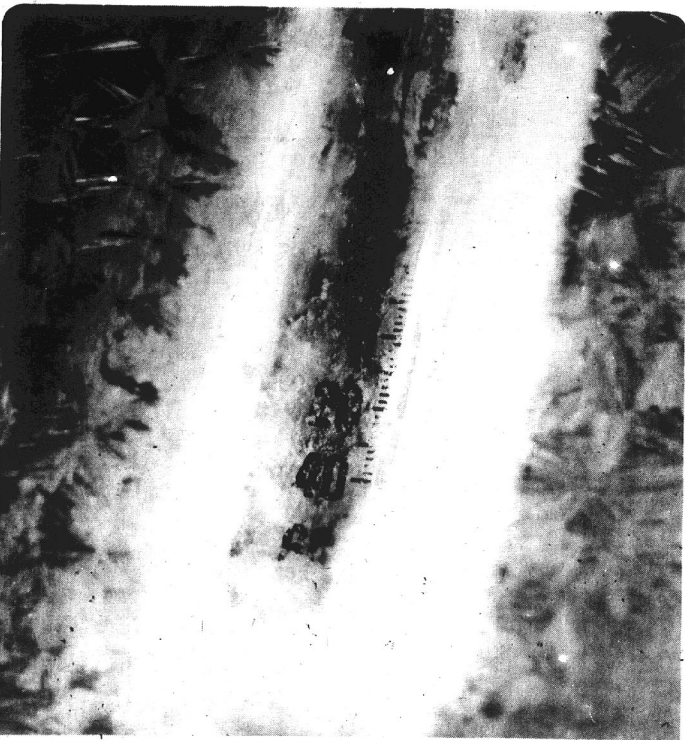

We are concerned that having given themselves much more money, they now will feel they have to stay in session even longer to earn it.

And then, after the next election, they will give themselves another raise because they've been working such long hours.

The people have been trying to tell their public officials this year that what they want is a leaner government — less taxes, less spending, less government.

Cold Weather Tip

At 32 degrees Fahrenheit still water freezes and when water freezes it expands with enough pressure to burst a pipe. Properly installed modern plumbing usually is located for best protection from freezing, but many old houses have exposed pipe that can burst under freezing conditions. Insulate pipe, or when there is danger of freezing, allow a slow flow of water. Cost of the water will likely be much less than plumbing repairs or the inconvenience.

FAREWELL PARTY for Mr. and Mrs. Abel (Helen) Valencia was a surprise affair after a meeting of the Mexican Honorary Commission. The Valencias, former owners of the Tasty Cream Drive In on Johnson Road, moved to Houston, Tex., last week.

Commission elects, honors Valencias

John Valencia was re-elected president of the Mexican Honorary Commission of Granite City at its annual election meeting held last week at the club hall, 1801 Spruce St.

Commission members also honored Mr. and Mrs. Abel (Helen) Valencia with a surprise farewell party prior to the couple leaving Granite City last week to make their future home in Houston, Tex.

Between 150 and 175 members and friends attended the meeting and party.

Abel and Helen Valencia have been members of the commission since it was organized more than 25 years ago.

Until recently, Mrs. Valencia was employed by the Kelly Girl secretarial service and her husband worked in the electrical construction field.

They resided on Erin Drive and owned and operated the Valencia Tasty Cream Drive In, 2041

Johnson Road, before selling the business about two years ago.

In observance of the occasion and to honor both husband and wife for their "dedicated efforts in the club," the commissioners presented them with the "Amigo and Amiga of the Year Awards."

Others renamed to office within the commission were: Joe Becerra, first vice-president; Ted Antoff, second vice-president; Robert Martinez, treasurer; and Lisa Garcia, secretary.

New members elected to the governing board were Julie Barnes, Otto Valencia Jr., William Salas and Mary Bridick.

During the farewell party, a large decorated cake was served, together with a buffet luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Valencia are now residing at: The Oaks, Apt. 3506, 1000 Cypress Station Drive, Houston, Tex. 77060.

Many family members and friends were among those honoring the former residents.

Corrections experience for Jones

Fifty students in the Department of Corrections at Illinois State University have participated this semester in field experiences through ISU's program in professional practice, including Philip E. Jones, 1600 Garfield Ave., Granite City.

The university-wide program, coordinated by Dr. Marilyn C. Lawrentz, enables students to gain practical experience in real employment situations in business, education and government.

In all, nearly 500 students at ISU are in field experiences through the professional practice program. Students in the program are earning from one to 16 hours of academic credit for their work experience. Some are salaried or receive a stipend.

The 50 students in corrections field work are under the coordination of Thomas Ellsworth, assistant professor of corrections.

Mrs. Wayne Carlisle, 3157 Davis Ave., was hostess for the Christmas party of Chapter KU, P.E.O. Sisterhood, Monday evening.

Mrs. Dale Rea, president, presided over a short business meeting. She reported on a meeting for Cotley College. A representative of the college announced tuition is now $3,600 per year and this includes all extras offered by the school. Books are the only extra expense.

Cotley is a 2-year girl's school in Nevada, Mo., sponsored by P.E.O. Anyone at all interested in the school may contact Mrs. Rea or Mrs. Muri Spengler, Cotley chairman, for further information.

Mrs. Maurice Hemphill read a delightful Christmas story to the group. She then read a poem and distributed the exchange gifts.

Mrs. Carlisle served dessert to the following: Mesdames Cal Bartels, William Burcky, George Coolidge, Leonard Davis, Elmer Gruen, Frank Kraus, David Maxton, Robert Maxwell, John McCarty, Dale Mullen, Ray Schafer and Austin Witter.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Burcky, 2586 Spalding Ave.

4th birthday of Paul C. Petrillo

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Petrillo of 6 Miami Court, entertained family members and friends at a birthday party honoring their son, Paul Christopher on his fourth birthday.

A spiderman theme was used for the table appointments and other decorations.

After the guest of honor opened his gifts, refreshments were served to his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Petrillo. Also present were Tina Petrillo, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Roethemeyer, Mrs. Nancy Garner and daughter Deana, and Mrs. John Fuhrman and children Kristy and Davy, Mike Harris and the honoree's brother, John Kenneth.

Moderate economic uptrend to continue

Annual Prudential Insurance Co. economic forecast:

The business upswing under way since March 1975 now substantially exceeds the 34-month average duration for post-World War II peacetime expansions.

Fears of a late 1978 recession voiced by some earlier this year dissipated as the economy rebounded smartly from the first quarter's severe winter weather and coal strike woes, and then settled down to more moderate but still respectable growth.

An enduring business caution and periodic quick adjustments to inventory excesses helped prevent the cumulative forces which in the past usually led to a cyclical downturn.

But one sign of the advanced age of the expansion is the fact that consumer durables and housing, which have powered the upswing to date, increasingly are giving way to business investment — a sector which normally maintains its vigor late in the cycle.

These developments were associated with a sharp, extraordinary surge in total employment. About four million more people are at work now than a year ago, with the gain concentrated in services and trade.

Only 3½ percent of household heads are unemployed.

The overall unemployment rate fell from an average 7 percent in 1977 to 6 percent level during much of 1978 — and this despite an unprecedented labor force growth reflecting a continuing (though diminishing) wave of young entrants and, in particular, a surge in female participation.

Roughly three out of five U.S. families now have two or more wage earners.

Inflation, in a virtual repeat of the year-earlier pattern, wound down from the double-digit performance in spring due primarily to a retreat in the volatile food sector.

But by autumn the continued surge in the nation's money supply suggested that this respite was merely the eye of a major inflation storm, which would intensify and ultimately could produce a downturn in output and employment.

Indeed, nonfood prices climbed relentlessly throughout 1978, under immediate pressure from boosts in the minimum wage, social security and unemployment taxes, the plummeting foreign exchange value of the dollar, and efforts to rebuild eroded profit margins and perhaps anticipate wage-price controls.

The continuing relatively strong economy and worsening inflation expectations were reflected in a seersawing stock market and rising interest rates.

The Federal Reserve reacted to a soaring money supply with successive actions which by fall had pushed interest rates substantially above year-earlier levels.

Looking ahead to 1979, we expect real growth to average 2 percent.

This implies a modest decline in the last half-year as inflation and a tightening monetary policy impact on already-weakening automobile and housing markets.

The unemployment rate is expected to average 6½ percent next year.

Rate of inflation (GNP price index) already is accelerating, and monetary pressures and rising unit labor costs will hold the quarterly rates (and annual average) above 8 percent throughout 1979.

GNP for the full year should reach $2,322 billion.

Family council can help reduce crime

(Federal Bureau of Investigation)

The best place to start practicing crime resistance is in the home, and an easy way to make crime resistance a part of the family routine is through a Family Council.

A Family Council is simply an informal gathering of family members during which they discuss the family's individual and collective vulnerability to crime and ways to reduce this vulnerability.

Crime resistance literature, usually available from local police, can be used both to learn about crime problems of particular concern in your area and as a source of helpful preventive tips.

Although crimes such as burglary, robbery and assault are of concern to the family generally, individual family members should be aware of specific crime problems that might face them because of their age or sex.

Children, for instance, must be warned of potential dangers of molesters and bicycle thieves; women should recognize the dangers posed by purse snatchers and sex offenders; men should guard against pickpockets, and the elderly must be wary of swindlers.

To improve protection for the family as a whole, consider assigning specific crime resistance responsibilities to family members.

For example, one member of the family could insure that the home is always secured for the evening before the family retires.

Another could assume responsibility for insuring that all windows and doors are locked prior to the family's departure from the home.

After developing your family's anticrime strategy, suggest to your neighbors that they adopt the Family Council approach. And then join your police and other families in your neighborhood to form a united front against crime.

PONTOON ANNEXES

The Pontoon Beach Village Board voted Tuesday night to annex 22 acres of land along the east side of Route 111 across from Pontoon Road, which belongs to the Pontoon Baptist Church. The property includes that portion of Kaseberg Lane east of Route 111. The board also granted permission for the Nameoki Volunteer Police Department to hold a roadblock Saturday at Routes 111 and 162 to raise money for Christmas baskets. The next meeting was moved to Dec. 19 from Dec. 26.

Jonathan Swift

This quotation causes us to stop and wonder about the best way to sell food, which is my job. I have never seen a food advertiser say anything but good about the products

he was promoting. This is entirely natural and there are many fine companies and many fine food stores other than our markets.

We can tell you many good things about our stores, but so can our competitors praise their companies. But, after all, it is your money you spend, and it is your judgment that decides at which food store

you shop. I suppose that the best thing we can ask you to do is to compare our stores, our prices, our cleanliness and hope your verdict is in our favor.

Use the suggestion envelopes we have

McKechan-Bischof betrothal

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Miss Pamela A. Bischof, a daughter of Mrs. Ruth Bischof, 3204 Erin Drive, and the late Vincent R. Bischof, and Gerald L. McKechan, by the bride-elect's mother.

The prospective groom is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. (Helen) McKechan. Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. Miss Bischof also graduated from Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and is employed as an English teacher at North High School.

Her fiancé was graduated from Western Illinois University and is a teacher at South High School. He also is a member of the Elks Club and Eagles Aerie.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple for July 21 wedding to take place at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Class hosts yule party

A holiday event of the Twilight Class of Mount Zion General Baptist Church was a pot luck dinner served in the church hall Tuesday evening.

Tables were decorated in a seasonal motif for the 5 o'clock dinner and party that followed.

Mrs. Ann Schubert opened the event with prayer and Mrs. Harriet Phelps, president, conducted a short business session. Roll call was answered by each one as they related a happy childhood Christmas day.

Members agreed to retain the officers for another year. Mrs. Jennie Pirtle offered their closing meditations.

During the social hour the group sang Christmas carols and held a gift exchange.

Others present were Opal Penrod, Mary Goodall, Lena Barnett, Lily Graf, Ollie Harmon, Helen Poole, Flo Monroe, Mildred Rippey, Edith Ebertson and Beryl Roady.

Plans are being completed by the engaged couple for July 21 wedding to take place at Nameoki United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Rosella Mead, queen of hearts chairman, announced ticket books have been distributed for the annual February event and all members are reminded to participate in the project.

Christmas decorations were used throughout the hall and on the dining tables for the yule party which followed the business meeting.

Forty-four members enjoyed a gift exchange and played games during the social hour.

A business session of the chapter is set for 8 p.m. on Dec. 27 at the Moose Lodge, it was noted.

Mrs. Kerch entertains

Chapter HT, P.E.O. Sisterhood, attended a yuletide party Monday afternoon hosted by Mrs. Richard Kerch in her home, 2810 State St., which was decorated in the seasonal motif.

A program was given by Mrs. Kerch followed by a gift exchange.

An appropriate memorial for the late Mrs. Gladys Chapman was discussed and Mrs. Ron Pennell was appointed to plan the project for presentation at Founder's Day in January to be held in Belleville.

The president read a notation of interest from a Sisterhood publication which stated, "despite the organizations emphasis on betterment of women through education and its encouragement of women to apply their education to better the community, P.E.O. officers insist theirs is not a women's rights group."

Welcomed as a guest at the holiday affair was Judy Kerch, a daughter of the hostess who also is a member of Chapter DZ of Evanston, Ill.

The Jan. 8 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Irvin Slate, 2240 Shirlene Drive.

The Social Service Chapter night was observed by Women of the Moose and special honors were accorded to Jackie Danheiser, chairman.

Sara was presented with a corsage in appreciation for her work as social service chairman, by Senior Regent Sara Gusewille. The honoree in turn introduced members of the committee.

Northgate Industrial Park can be a big step forward

As is noted in a study of the proposed Northgate Industrial Park at Highway Three and Chain of Rocks Road, this region is attractive to industrial and commercial development due to its many geographic and transportation assets, and needs accessible, utility-served sites in order to achieve phased growth, gradually strengthening the tax base and job opportunities.

The industrial park that is proposed would lead to expanded economic activity without excessive traffic or other undesirable patterns, and could attract firms having a high investment per employee.

ployee. Zoning and annexation procedures currently are in progress.

Owned by Illinois Power Co., the 427-acre tract has been used for farming through its recorded life. Served by highways, railroad lines and nearby port, trade and warehousing facilities, it is levee-protected and has a large-capacity drainage ditch as well as sanitary sewer links. It is compatible with the planning goals and policies of Granite City, Madison County and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission.

Granite City-Northgate can be a tremendous asset to the local community and a wide surrounding area.

New judges will have major impact on American life

Press-Record Washington Bureau — A little-heralded but far-reaching law passed by Congress this year was the Omnibus Judgeship Act, which provides for the largest expansion of the federal judiciary in history.

A total of 152 new federal judgeships — 117 in the district courts and 35 for the appellate level. This amounts to a 30 percent increase over the 400 district and 97 appellate judges now in existence.

These highly-coveted lifetime jobs of prestige and power, which pay more than $50,000 per year, represent the "choice of patronage places" — so choice, in fact, that the Democratic majorities in Congress balked at expanding the judiciary under Republican presidents Nixon and Ford.

The hefty number of new judgeships will be the first created since 1970.

The patronage bonanza confronts President Carter and Democratic senators with a challenge as large as their opportunity.

Mr. Carter is particularly under the gun, insofar as Republicans are concerned, because of the pledge he made during his presidential campaign that all federal court judges would be appointed "strictly on the basis of merit without any consideration of political aspect or influence."

It must be said to Mr. Carter's credit that he has set about to increase the elements of merit at the expense of political patronage in the selection of judges.

He has called for citizen nomination commissions to submit a public list of qualified judicial candidates for his selection, with advice from senators in each of the states.

He has succeeded in putting such commissions to work in selecting all of the 35 new appellate judges and about half of the 117 new district court judges.

The difficulty is that the citizen-nomination plan depends on cooperation by senators, who in recent years have not just advised and consented to judicial appointments but effectively made the selections.

Some senators have chosen not to participate in the commission system. How, then, Mr. Carter gets with them remains to be seen.

And, even where senators are going along with the President's plan, the sailing is not always smooth. The commission in Virginia, for example, recommended only white males for that state's four new judgeships. This flouts Mr. Carter's guidelines calling for a fair representation of minorities and women.

Some highly placed doubts are being expressed about the new method of selecting federal judges. In a sharply stated difference with the president, Attorney General Griffin B. Bell said recently that he was not "altogether satisfied" with the commission system.

He questions whether it can produce the "top legal minds" Mr. Carter has called for. In recalling his nearly 15 years on the U.S. 5th Circuit Court, Mr. Bell said, "Everybody I knew on the court was appointed because of political connections."

We cannot gainsay Mr. Bell's reservations because the old system he defends, for the whole, given us a high level of judicial competence.

But the doubts he has expressed should serve to challenge the commissions to prove that citizens can produce judges of a higher caliber than can senators engaged in patronage.

The nation must hope that this will be so, because the federal judiciary — which now determines American life to an unprecedented degree — will be shaped for years to come by the 152 new judges who are about to be appointed.

Shots fired at bedroom window

Someone fired shots with a pellet gun at the rear bedroom window of the Orle Bunker home, 4710 Kirkpatrick Homes, Thursday afternoon.

Bunker said he saw sun glinting on the barrel of a weapon through the window of a nearby dwelling.

Police questioned a 17-year-old girl at the residence, who denied any knowledge of a pellet gun or a nearby dwelling.

Later, a 15-year-old Lincoln Avenue youth said he and the girl and another 15-year-old youth had fired the shots.

An older brother of one youth searched the house near 4710 Kirkpatrick Homes and brought a pellet gun to police headquarters.

The incident and participants were referred to the juvenile officer.

Seniors' ball Wednesday night

The Paul Sabo Band will play music for dancing at a Christmas Ball for senior citizens of Granite City Township, at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the township center, 2060 Delmar Ave.

Buses will be provided for senior citizens who are unable to arrange for their own transportation and call 777-4554 for reservations.

The music is being furnished through the American Federation of Musicians Local 717.

Robinson re-elected

Russell Robinson of Granite City has been re-elected as chairman of the Metro-East Sanitary District board for his second consecutive year.

Robinson was appointed to the board in October 1976 and took office the following December when the board was reorganized from the former East Side Levee and Sanitary District. He was elected board president at that time for the 1977 year.

Omar Brummitt of Cahokia was re-elected as vice-chairman. Other board members are: Dave Bergfield of Granite City, John Erhardt of Washington Park, Walter "Shang" Greathouse of Granite City, and Robert Eastern of East St. Louis.

The status of Greathouse as a board member on the board still is to be settled by court decision as a result of Madison County assessed valuation exceeding that of St. Clair County, a factor that determines the three-man majority to the five-man board.

Both counties have retained one member on the board pending a court decision. Davis is a member instead of five.

eight original ASP plants. Today, American Steel Foundries operates four plants and about 400 employees are based at AMSTED Industries headquartered in Chicago.

Employment figures reflect improved business conditions at the Granite City plant. During 1978, employment averaged 1,717 employees, compared with 1,550 the year before.

ASP was a major factor in the economy of the Granite City area, paying its employees $29,966,000 in wages, salaries and employee benefits during 1978.

Donovan said more than $900,000 was spent at the plant during 1978 to improve plant environment and increase capacity.

Included in that total were dust and fume control equipment in the core room; noise control equipment in the melting area; sand handling equipment in the core room and molding area; and new lighting in the molding and cleaning and finishing departments.

In addition, a new air compressor was installed to increase compressed air capacity in the plant.

Looking ahead to 1979, Donovan said the plant will modernize a second heat treating furnace in order to conserve energy; install a new power transformer for its electric furnaces; expand its storage capacity; purchase a new locomotive; and expand its personnel building.

Donovan said, "In 1979, ASP will undertake a detailed study involving a proposed major expansion at the Granite City location to further increase capacity to produce freight car components."

He said the high levels of new freight car building and freight traffic are expected to continue in 1979.

The outlook remains bright for railroad ordering due to increasing use of railroads which are fuel efficient and bulk commodity hauling," he concluded.

have been cut out of the curriculum completely.

Supt. Vickers said that Illinois School Consultants, a private firm, has agreed to attempt to find funding bonds for the district. If such bond purchasers are found, a one percent of the bond amount would be charged. No fee is involved if a purchaser is not found for the bonds.

If the banks are willing to accept second-year anticipation warrants this might be another route, Supt. Vickers pointed out.

Payless paydays

Employees of the Metro-East Sanitary District will not be paid on the next payday, Dec. 28, and funds to pay them may not be available until late February or early March, a spokesman for the board of trustees said this morning.

During a meeting Friday, the board could not approve the upcoming payroll due to a lack of funds. All but about 40 persons considered full-time and essential personnel, were laid off recently, because of the financial difficulties.

It was explained that the board cannot legally borrow with tax-anticipation warrants until the 1979 budget is adopted and that budget has not yet been posted.

The trustees were to meet this morning and were expected to approve a tentative budget for posting. A public hearing on the budget is set for 10 a.m. Jan. 15 at the board office in Washington Park, followed by adoption of the document.

Says jobs offset by other factors

Necessary papers for the issuance of tax-anticipation warrants then can be prepared. The spokesman said the district's essential personnel are being asked to "work without paydays" until funds are available to reimburse them. Most are expected to comply, the spokesman added.

In other business at Friday's meeting, the board agreed to have its consulting firm, Horner & Shifrin, St. Louis, study whether the computer billing system for the pollution department is cost-effective, or whether the district could save money by billing sewer customers manually.

The consultants are to issue a recommendation when the study is completed.

The board was informed that the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency has agreed to release $24,000 in funds to repair a sewer break in Cahokia. About 320 feet of the sewer is to be replaced.

Carl Ranft, port district manager, said the issue of financing the new facilities required for the Foreign Trade Zone 31, will be discussed at a meeting during a special meeting at 6:30 p.m. today.

Ranft indicated at the regular meeting last week that he did not feel either port bonds or industrial revenue bonds can be sold at the 8 percent interest rate the state has set as the limit for tax-free bonds.

However, there was no quorum at that meeting, so it was postponed until this evening. It was only the third time in the 20-year history of the port district the board has failed to achieve a quorum, Ranft noted.

He said contact has been made with State Sen. Sam Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and with state senators, asking that the ceiling be lifted so the bonds can be sold.

"This will be the third time we have asked the state to raise the ceiling on bond interest. We started with 6 percent, it was about five percent. The question is why the state has a ceiling. This does not affect the credit of the port or the state. It is simply a contract between the bond seller and the buyer," Ranft explained.

He noted the bond ceiling affects all port districts and agencies who can issue tax-free bonds and when asked if he feels the bonds can be sold at eight percent, he replied, "As of today, no. Not at eight percent. Of course, the bond market may change after the first of the year, but I have my doubts."

He said he predicts little opposition to a bill to raise the bond interest ceiling, noting it was raised twice before at the port district's request without any problems.

The proposed bonds, which will be secured by leases on part of the proposed facility, is to finance a 120,000-square-foot warehouse and office complex on the 47 acres of the port designated for a permanent Foreign Zone.

The Madison County Board at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday will decide on records disposition, fund transfers, sale of lever voting machines, amending the liquor control ordinance.

Port asks for raise in bond interest ceiling

The Tri-City Regional Port District is asking state legislators to raise the ceiling on the amount of interest which can be charged for tax-free bonds needed to finance a $1.34 million office and warehouse complex at the port here.

In addition, there are other sites under consideration for the plant. I am against this firm producing autos in this country, as we have a trade deficit with Japan. Every foreign car made here is one less American car that will be built and sold.

South shooting sour; Oilers grab victory

By DOUG IRVIN
of the Press Record
WOOD RIVER — Four of the starting five fouled out and the fifth had four by the end of the game here Saturday. Granite City South fell 59-48 to Wood River after leading 18-17 at halftime.

"It all started in the first quarter when we missed so many shots," explained South's Head Coach Don Deterding. "By missing that many shots, we got frustrated. Then we got behind and when you're frustrated and behind—you foul. We did foul and not let them get off a regular shot. We lost the ball more times than we did because we had to gamble.

"And by gambling, we fouled and they (Wood River) just had an excellent game from the free throw line."

Wood River outscored South by 18 points at the line. South only lost by 14 points. South actually scored two more field goals than did the Oilers of Wood River. But South missed some, more than some, a lot of simple, everyday shots. In the first half alone, South missed at least six or seven shots from within three feet of the bucket.

The Warriors were only four of 17 in the first quarter and five of 13 in the second quarter. South outshot Wood River in the first half 30-18, yet the Oilers were only down by one, easy to get point, 18-17.

South went 17 of 51 shots throughout the entire game. That's only 33 percent of their shots going in. Whereas the Oilers shot 15 of 31, just a little under 50 percent going into the bucket.

"By missing those shots early in the game, we gave them a 10 to 15 point lead right there," said Coach Deterding. "We could have had, should have had, those points, but..."

Wood River tied the score with over five minutes remaining in the third period at 20 all. The Oilers then went on top with seven straight free throws, 29-23. They led 34-29 going into the fourth and final quarter of the game.

The home team was up by ten points before South could score. Wood River went up by 16 at one point, 48-32. South ended the game with two kills then — free throws. Only this time, South's John Vrenick was making them, two of 'em, 59-45.

South made eight out of 21 shots in the second half and 11 out of 19 from the line. "I don't understand it," said Coach Deterding. "We don't miss in practice."

Top scorer for South was Lee Heubner with 13, followed by Jeff Parker with 12 points. High Scorer of the game was Jim "Buz" Logan with 19, of Wood River.

Two games are on South's schedule next weekend. Friday night, the Warriors travel to Belleville East and then on Saturday they play a make-up game at Quincy Notre Dame, a game scheduled to start at 8 p.m. after junior varsity games.

North falls to Cahokia

By PETE HAYES

CAHOKIA — A member of the Granite City North basketball team switched jerseys late in the second period here Friday night in the Steelers' game with Cahokia High.

His name was Mo. Momentum.

North jumped out to an early lead, had control of the pace of the game and was out-hustling the Comanches. Then came that jersey switch. O' Mo decided to play for Cahokia for the rest of the game. The result was a 76-51 North loss.

But what caused that momentum change was hard to explain. "We played well for awhile," said North coach Bill Ohlendorf. "But then we stopped using our offense, seemed a little tired, and that gave them (Cahokia) a little opening."

"That was all they needed."

Another item that may have had something to do with that change in game was an icy-cold shooting performance by North in the third quarter. The Steelers were outscored in that stanza 22-6.

North had taken an early lead in the first quarter. It held a 17-14 lead at the end of the first period and took a 23-18 lead at the beginning of the second stanza. But then disaster struck.

North hit a cold streak, Cahokia kept on playing virtually the same style of ball it had been, but the two factors resulted in a 33-28 halftime lead for the Comanches.

Early in the game, North scored many of its points on uncontested layups, after beating Cahokia's full-court press with ease. "We had prepared for it," said Ohlendorf. "The press didn't give many problems at all."

NORTH-Russ Chappell 17, Dennis Page 14, Mike Robertson 9, Tom Greco 5, Greg Leahman 5, Bob Batey 1. FG 17, FT 17.

CAHOKIA-Egner 10, Butler 10, Collins 10, Techtrop 9, Chiaralli 9, Miller 8, Stewart 8, Hagenbrock 6, Hill 4. FG 33, FT 8.

It seemed as if North could do nothing wrong early. For instance, in a mad scramble for a loose basketball at midcourt, Steeler Tom Greco somehow gained control and passed to teammate Mike Robertson who went streaking in for a layup. Momentum was still in the Steeler black-and-silver.

But then, the ol' jersey-switch occurred and North found itself in trouble. "When you're as small as we are and give away so many things, height-wise," said Ohlendorf, "you have to count on other things going right for you."

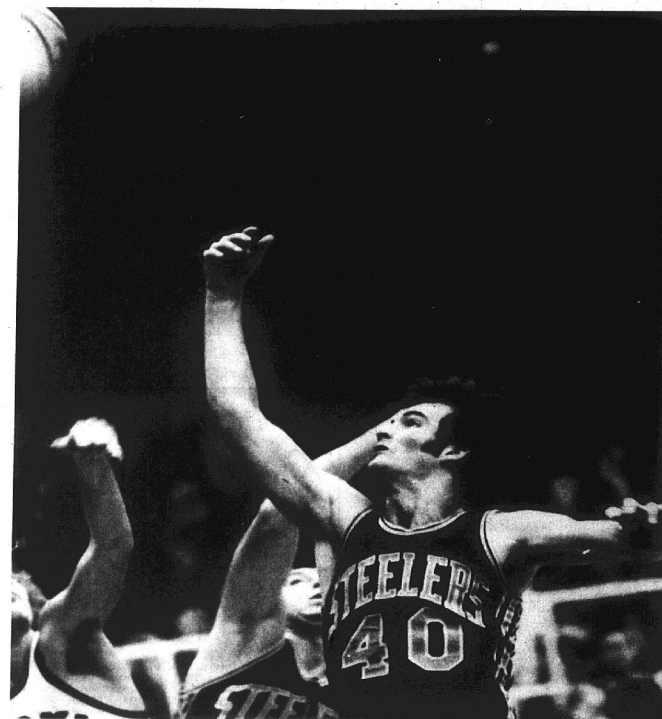

"They did for awhile, but not for the entire game."

Cahokia didn't exactly have a banner night shooting either. But the taller Comanches were able to keep up above the rim and tip in many a missed shot... that for North might have bounded harmlessly away because of the size difference.

"We missed some easy close-in shots midway through the second quarter," said Ohlendorf. "Then they (Cahokia) got some rim shots that broke our momentum and sent them on their way."

What does a coach say to a team that has played fundamentally well but has got a cold streak? "We tried to talk about positive things," said Ohlendorf. "We had done many things well in the

Red Devils give Vashon a tussle before falling, 84-75

By KEVIN ALLEN
of the Press-Record
ST. LOUIS — To say that Venice's Red Devil basketball team faces a challenging schedule is a gross understatement. For the second time in less than a week they met a member of the St. Louis Public High League, and for the second time in a row they lost.

Saturday the culprit was Vashon High, who beat the Red Devils 84-75. Vashon came into the game with a 7-1 record. That one loss came to defending Missouri state champion DeMet in a close game. Vashon out-shot and out-muscled the Red Devils in what turned out to be a closer game than expected.

"They're just mechanical," Venice coach Ken Perkins said of Vashon. "Their coach just tells them where to go and they go there and do the job."

Venice stayed close through much of the first half. With about a minute left before the halftime, Venice held a 30-29 lead. But in the next minute Vashon went to the foul line three times, scoring five points and began to pull away. Vashon's Greg Agnew and Keith Williams added a basket each while Venice went scoreless.

At halftime Vashon enjoyed a 27-30 lead from which Venice would not come back. The entire first half gave an indication that Venice might be able to stay with their bi-state hosts. But if that was to be, the Red Devils were going to have to play an aggressive physical game.

Vashon held a pronounced height advantage. Bruce Tipton, a 6'7" Agnew, which they used to open up a 17-11 lead in the first quarter. Venice's forwards Reggie Mathis and Ricky Jones were taking a beating under the Vashon basket.

At about the three minute mark of the first quarter, Perkins was called for a technical foul by the referee and they're different. They'll call the technical much faster.

The third period proved to be the critical one for Venice. From the six point (Continued on Page 26)

MADISON — The Madison basketball Trojans, in what has become typical style for them so far this season, pressured yet another opponent into submission last Friday night.

The Trojans, running and pressing as always, easily handled the Assumption Pioneers, dealing them a 66-54 defeat.

Trojan coach Larry Graham explained the benefits of the pressure defense. "Early in the year it helps us a lot. That's why we always start so well. Teams just don't expect the press early in the season," he said.

As usual, Madison jumped out on top and kept applying pressure, forcing Assumption into key mistakes. Assumption coach Lou Gregory said, "Towards the middle of the first and second quarters we didn't handle the ball very well. Madison's pressure defense worked very well."

The Trojans built their lead almost methodically. At the end of the first quarter they were ahead by eight, at half time by nine, at the close of the third period they opened up a 15 point bulge, and at the final buzzer there was a 12 point margin.

Gregory was well aware of Madison's strength. "It has a lot to do with the pressure defense," he said. "They play hard and solid. Our strength is the inside game and theirs is running," he said.

At the center of the Pioneer's strong inside game is Gerald Stevenson, a 6'6" sophomore. In the first quarter, Stevenson scored six of the Pioneer's eight points. He went on to drop in 21 more, half of Assumption's total for the night.

Graham said, "Stevenson is just a super sophomore. I don't know to many much better. I'd rate him and our sophomore Morris Hughes way up there."

According to Graham, the Trojans made some halftime adjustments in their defense against Stevenson who was scoring from underneath the basket most of the first half. "At least in the second half he had to work at scoring," said Graham.

Unfortunately for the Pioneers, Stevenson alone couldn't keep up with the running Trojans. Despite his first period performance, Assumption quickly found themselves playing catch-up. "We had a few breaks early in the game," said Graham. "There were some lucky bounces in our favor and we were forcing them into playing our game."

Gregory agreed that "that was a major problem with the Pioneer attack. When we played our game we would score. We'd score four or five in a row when we slowed it down," he said.

But Madison successfully controlled the pace of the game. "If we let down just one time then it's a different game because they're a tough team. They don't deserve to be rated number seven in the area, they're definitely underrated," said Graham.

The Trojan's Kenny Stanley, whose offensive totals are steadily improving, led the scoring with a 30 point performance, a team high this season.

North matmen edge Parkway

ST. LOUIS — The Granite North grappling squad defeated Parkway West by a slim margin of 29-30 at Parkway Saturday. "We had a couple of close bouts in the upper weight that really made it a close match," said North's Coach, Walt Whitaker.

Parkway only tied the score twice — once before the match started and again after the 105 bout. They tried to make a comeback, but couldn't quite do it.

Gerald Miller, 98 pounds of North, looked really tough as he defeated one of the toughest 98-pounders in Missouri, Mark Lucchesi. Miller won by decision 4-0.

Russ Grasso, 105 of North, lost to Larry Andres by a score of 13-6, thus tying the dual at 3 all. In the 112 class, Bob Kirgan outclassed Tom Miller by a superior decision of 13-1.

Tracy Patton, 119, pinned Durt Stauder in 2:20 and at 135, Alan Kirgan beat Steve Sipes in 2:40 with North's second pin.

Grog and Kevin Shemwell, 132 and 138 respectively, both won close matches — by one point each. The lighter Shemwell beat Craig Marble 10-9 and the heavier one decisioned Tim Naes by a score of 4-3.

Brad Taylor, at 145, lost to John Kayser of West by a major decision 17-4. Bruce Uznoff, 155, was the last Steeler to win his match. Uznoff beat Brian Massengill by two points, 5-3. At 167, Mitch Steen, lost 15-7 to Kevin Ryan and Mike Painter, 185, lost 5-4 to Brian Ogilvie. At heavyweight, Al Sullivan got pinned by Jim Brown in 1:20.

"Bobby" (Kirgan), said Tracy (Patton) looked outstanding and Jerry Miller did a super job," said Whitaker. "I expected Steen and Painter (167 and 185) both to win — they've been doing real well for me. They just ran into some stiff competition."

North will travel to Bethalto Friday night and will host DeMet Saturday afternoon. North's dual record is now 6-1, losing only to Belleville West.

Warrior ice men lose two

ST. LOUIS — The Granite City South club hockey team saw its record dip below .500 for the first time this season over the weekend when it lost two games in league play. South's record is now 2-3.

Friday the Warriors fell to Hazelwood Central 3-1, being outshot 41-22. South's goal was scored by Ted Thalman (from Ron Markarian) at the 7:28 mark of the first period.

Saturday, the Warriors put up a tough fight, coming from behind several times, but eventually fell to St. Mary 6-3.

South goals were scored by Andy Costello (from Markarian), Ted Thalman (Markarian), Mike Hassler (Tim Doo and Gary Brown), Andy Hinterser (Tim Phelps), Todd McFarland and Billy McKinnon (Thalman, George Whaley).

South's next game will be tonight at 7:30 against Aquinas at the Brentwood Ice Rink.

Only 3 men in history have ever won the Heisman Trophy as the best player in college football, and then played in the Super Bowl in pro football. The only 3 to do it are Roger Staubach who won the Heisman in 1963, and played with Dallas in the Super Bowl.

Mike Garrett who won the Heisman in 1965, and played with Kansas City in the Super Bowl.

And, Tony Dorsett who won the Heisman in 1976 and played with Dallas in the Super Bowl.

Here's an oddity about the top big league baseball pitcher of 1978 — Ron Guidry won 25 games in 1978 and lost only 3 — and each of his 3 losses were to an opposing pitcher named Mike.

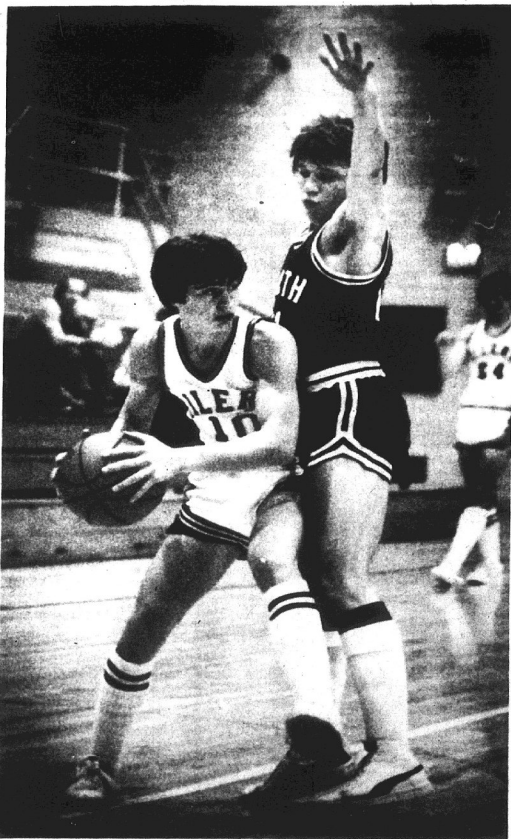

The only games Guidry lost last season were to Mike Caldwell of Milwaukee, Mike Flanagan of Baltimore and Mike Willis of Toronto.

Here's a tough question — Which National Football League team has had 3 head coaches in its history with the SAME last name? Answer is the Detroit Lions.

Monte Clark is the current coach of the Lions. Earl (Dutch) Clark was the Lion coach in 1937 and 1938, and yet another Clark — was head coach of the Lions from 1934 to 1936 and again in 1940.

first half. And at halftime we still were very much in the game.

"We had done a great job of breaking their press. We had shown good desire."

But early in the third quarter, things got even worse for North. The Steeler didn't score their first basket until nearly five minutes had gone by. In fact, they only managed to score six points in the stanza. "It seems that when a team gets into a lull like that, things get worse very quickly," said Ohlendorf.

"We were already behind by about five or six points. But the gap gets considerably bigger when you're as cold as we were tonight."

vantage.

With Madison's 5-1 record thus far, thoughts are already turning to the state tournament. Graham, when asked to compare his current team with the team which won the tournament in 1977, said that although the '77 team was taller this year's squad was just as strong. "I think our team will just keep getting better," he said. "Right now we have a problem with passing, but the guys know what they have to work on and they make that their goal."

Despite the fact that his team dropped its fourth game in four outings, Ohlendorf was heartened by what he saw. "Cahokia is a much better team than the first three we faced (Wood River, East St. Louis Assumption and Altamont). "They have a fine ball club. They're going to beat some people this year. In fact, they gave Collinsville everything they could handle last week."

Midway through the first quarter, North got the hot hand again briefly. Just as quickly as the team had gone cold from the field, it got hot as blazes for about a three minute stretch.

But by that time the gap had grown so large that the Stealers could manage to put to within only 14 points. "We've got to be able to shoot as well when the pressure's on as when it's off," said Ohlendorf. "We've got some good shooting talent on this team. But we've got to be able to shoot when all the chips are on the table."

The Stealers will jump out of the frying pan and into the fire this week. Friday, the host Collinsville in an 8 p.m. game (junior varsity at 6:30).

How will Ohlendorf get his team prepared to face Collinsville? "We'll sit down and discuss tonight's game," he said. "My kids know what they did right or wrong out there tonight for the most part."

South grapplers roll

By DOUG IRVIN
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Surgeon General has determined that the South wrestling team is dangerous to your health. Well, he should.

The Warrior grapplers, by a combined total of 105-7, defeated two teams with the dreaded disease that the Surgeon General should have mentioned.

Normandy (on Saturday) and Springfield Southeast (on Friday) were the victims of the Warriors. South's Junior varsity squad was also victorious over the Normandy Vikings by a score of 51-15. (Results listed in the scoreboard.)

SOUTH 51, NORMANDY 7 Last season's record of the fastest pin was shot down by the Warrior's 119 pounder, Rocky Lupardus, who defeated his foe in 18 seconds. South's previous record was 21 seconds.

Chris Cottrell, 98 pounds for South, fought a tough match with Josh Williams before losing a major decision to him. At 106, Greg Garland of South decided Reuban Richardson's fall with an impressive 13-2 decision, bringing the Warriors to within one point, 5-4.

Perhaps the toughest match was in the 112 weight class with Randy Lupardus.

Lupardus was down 4-2 late in the second of the three two minute periods. He reversed Mike Hickman for two points into the final period. With the clock showing 0:25, Lupardus got the all important reversal which gave him a 6-4 advantage, but Hickman did the same thing and the bout ended a draw with two points awarded each team.

In 18 seconds, the heavier Young in 141 which added six to the team score after that 132 pound match, 23-7. Dean Perkins, at 138, struck Tim Anten in 4:13 after leading 10-1. this one shouldn't either. Scott Polson, at 167, won a hard fought battle over Sam Williams, 8-4. The referee awarded three points which many people thought shouldn't have been given. Williams was awarded the original takedown, in which very few people saw control, however, a mere 2 seconds later Polson escaped. Williams got two points for the takedown and Polson only got one for the escape, giving Williams a one point advantage early in the bout.

Polson found himself in a 4-4 tie late in the third period with Williams in control. Polson managed to get away for one point to win, 6-4. In 4:31, Rich James, South's 185, beat Darrell Porter with a pin, pushing the team score to 47-7. In the unlimited or heavyweight class, Mark Seibert, decided Normandy's Tracey Gardner, 10-2, finaling the team score at 51-7.

SOUTH 51, SPRINGFIELD 7 SOUTHEAST 0 Four pins and three superior and five regular decisions controlled Springfield's fate at South Friday night. With the pins were: Rocky Lupardus at 119 in 3:38, Forshae at 126 and 1:32, Beljanski at 132 both in 2:51, and Sam Perkins, at 145 in three minutes even.

West downs Collinsville

The parity of the area's Class AA cage powers came to light over the weekend. BELLEVILLE WEST, which had to fight from behind last week to beat Granite City South, led from start to finish Friday night and defeated COLLINSVILLE to hand the Hawks their second loss of the season and first in the Southwestern Conference.

But Saturday night, the Hawks came back and defeated EAST ST. LOUIS 60-22. Three weeks ago, East St. Louis had to come from behind and use free throws to beat Madison by 10.

CENTRALIA, one of the top teams in the South, and which had earlier defeated Belleville West by 21 points, was handed its first loss of the campaign Friday by MARION 88-86. But Centralia Coach Jim Roberts says he wasn't bothered by the loss. "Even if we don't win our conference, I still think we'll be in the Carbondale Super Sectional in March." Centralia fought off West, Frankfort 71-59 Saturday night.

One team that may have something to say about whether Centralia gets to the Super Sectional, OLNEY, continues to roll. The Tigers eliminated Centralia last season in the Sectional final and return all five of their starters from that Sweet Sixteen team. They ambushed Mt. Carmel 95-49.

Scouting the preps

Friday and shellacked Paris Saturday 99-35, using their junior varsity lineup for almost half the game.

Through their first five games the unbeaten Tigers have outscored their opposition 449-197.

In Class A ranks, defending state champion NASHVILLE looks as if it could have the horses to do it again. The Hornets pounded haphless BRESEE CENTRAL 79-32 Saturday night. ST. PAUL of Highland also continues to look good after its opening game loss to Madison. The Vikings topped ALTAMONT (high beat GC North) 75-60 Friday night. Elsewhere, MT. VERNON defeated BRESEE MATER DEI Friday night 74-66. TRIAD downed STAUNTON 69-63. EAST ST. LOUIS defeated BELLEVILLE EAST Friday. ALTON downed EDWARDSVILLE 73-68 and LEBANON cruised by RED BUD 90-71.

Devils

halftime lead, Vashon turned the advantage to 15. About six minutes into the period Vashon pulled out a ninth shot. Then after Venice had trouble finding the basket with the free throw, Vashon began pulling the game away.

Vashon's Bruce Tipton slunk the Red Devils and seemed to spark his team. Vashon found himself two consecutive steals, prompting Perkins to call a time-out in an effort to calm his seething team.

"Once they started running and Tipton slammed that one, you could just see us wilt out there," said Perkins. Tipton is a qualified all-stater if I've ever seen one. He hurt us last year and he hurt us again this year. I don't think you can stop him."

In the fourth quarter Vashon continued to press Venice and build their lead. At one point, about four minutes into the quarter, Vashon had stretched the lead to 18 points, the biggest bulge of the evening. Venice made a belated come-back attempt and managed to pull within nine points near the end, but by then it was too late.

"We tried to shut them off in the first half," said Perkins. "Their press shouldn't have hurt as much as it did in the second half, it didn't in the first. They're pretty awesome. They're quick and they can really jump."

Many personalities a part of 'Madness'

By JIM FLYNN
IHSA Assistant
Executive Secretary

BLOOMINGTON — "March Madness," the Illinois State High School Association state basketball tournament, has spanned many years and involved many personalities of those people and teams are outlined here.

In 1976, when America celebrated its Bicentennial, fans in the Assembly Hall were treated to: 1) the greatest all-time individual scoring performance in the long history of the tournament series; 2) a pair of championship games that will long be remembered for their dramatic one-point conclusions.

Lawrenceville's senior guard Jay Shidler dazzled those in attendance and the statewide television audience with games of 37, 48 and 45 points. Those scoring outbursts, plus a 27-point effort in the Charleston Super-Sectional, brought the "Golden Gunner" or "Bionic Boy" as the press labeled him, the all-time tournament individual scoring record of 157 points. Needing 41 points to set the third place game, Shidler became the darling of the sellout crowd as each of his shots sailed toward the basket. When he scored tournament point No. 153, the building rocked with approval.

But Shidler's performance was only a prelude to a spine-tingling title tilt between eventual champion Mt. Pulaski (a school that had grown in enrollment and cage talent through consolidation with nearby Elkhart and Oneida (ROVA). ROVA lead 35-34 at halftime and 44-45 after three quarters.

Mt. Pulaski moved ahead 55-54 with 2:35 to play and then the lead changed four times in the next 13 seconds. Finally, with 42 seconds to go, Mt. Pulaski's super sophomore Jeff Clements (who scored 10 of his team's last 10 points) fired through what proved to be the clincher. ROVA worked for one final shot, trying to get the ball into 5-8 center Dave Johnson, but could not master the Mt. Pulaski defense. Finally, with six seconds left, Dwight Peterson fired up a 16-foot jump shot and missed, and Johnson had the rebound slip off his fingertips and out of bounds underneath the basket as time ran out.

One week later, Chicago (Morgan Park), trailing the entire game, nipped Aurora (West), 45-44, when Laird Smith got the tip from teammate Levi Cobb on a jump ball situation and fired through a jump shot from the right of the free throw circle as the ball fell through the net as the scoreboard clock registered 0:00. Trailing 33-26 after three quarters, Morgan Park put on a fourth-quarter rally that ranks as one of the greatest in IHSA State Tournament history.

Lockport (Central) became only the ninth team in the long history of the boys series to capture the state title with an unblemished record when coach Bob Basarich's Porters beat Westchester (St. Joseph), 64-47, for the 1978 crown and a 33-0 season record. Center Scott Parzych led the Porters, with 26 points and 11 rebounds, hitting 10 of 16 shots from the field.

The 38-year coaching career of Vergil Fletcher came to an historic end in the 1978 Class AA Boys State Final, as his Kahokas of Collinsville took home the third place trophy with a 96-65 decision over Rockford (East). Collinsville, where Fletcher coached 32 years and posted a 744-171 record (and a winning percentage of .813) was beaten 55-53 by Lockport (Central) in one of the greatest semifinal games in the long history of the series. "I was only 13 and a high school freshman when I first heard of Vergil Fletcher coaching at Collinsville," said Lockport's Basarich. "So to beat a legend like him and such a great team is one of the greatest thrills I've experienced. Winning the state championship would be the top thrill, though."

Collinsville, under Fletcher, was noted for its tremendous pressing defense and the resultant offensive firepower which came when the Kahoks stole the ball. A native of Johnston City, 6:00, a graduate of Illinois College in Jacksonville in 1938, Fletcher formulated his defensive theories in the late 1940's.

"I picked up an old book written in 1926 and read about the 'shifting ball defense'. Basically, it emphasized shifting your defensive players to follow the ball. In those early years we'd press, full-court, but only man-toman. Then, as the bigger kids came along and we were using the zone defense when the ball came downcourt, we went into the full-court zone 1-2-3 press shifting all the way with the ball." And what made Collinsville's press more effective than the others? "We shot off the middle," said Fletcher. "A lot of coaches still don't realize how important that can be."

The starting lineup for Fletcher's first title team in 1961 included 6-2½

Bob Basola and 6-3 Fred Riddle at forward, 6-6 Bogle Redmon at Center, and 5-10½ Bob Simpson and 5-8 Bob Meadows at guard. The starters on title team No. 2 in 1965 were: 6-3 Harry Parker and 6-2 Don Birger at forward, 6-3 Dennis Pace at center and 6-0 Jack Darlington and 6-0 Steve Gaven at guard. Starters on his final Kahok team in 1978 were: 6-4 Don Osborn and 6-4 Steve Ray at forward, 6-7 John Belobradic at Center, and 6-0 Rick George and 4-5 Kevin Stallings at guard. One member of the first Fletcher team at Collinsville in the 1940-47 campaign was Frank Pitol, who succeeded Fletcher as athletic director at Collinsville when Fletcher retired in the summer of 1978.

In the summer of 1978, the Board of Directors voted to establish the two class system in girls basketball beginning with the State Final Tournament of 1980.

WELL, EXCUUUUSE ME! North's Tom Greco (54) gives a Cahokia player a little nudge Friday night as teammate Dennis Page (30) looks on. The Stealers took early control of the game, but went cold midway through and dropped a 76-51 decision to the Comanches in Cahokia.

IN LOVING Memory of
GEORGE STENITZER
SR., December 19, 1975. I needed the quiet so He drew me aside. Into the shadows where we could confront. Away from the bustle where all day long I hurried and worried when active and strong. I needed the quiet but at first I rebelled. But gently, so gently, my cross He upheld. And whispered so sweetly of spiritual things, that I needed in body, my spirit took wings. To heights never dreamed of when active and gay. He loved me so greatly. He drew me away. I needed the quiet. No prison my bed. But a beautiful valley of blessings instead. A place to grow richer in Jesus to hide. I needed the quiet so He drew me aside.

IN MEMORY OF GEORGE
"HOOT" GIBSON,
December 18, 1977. Oh God, death is so still, so utterly still. My dear brother whom I no longer can see.
You have not taken him into a kingdom, he would be happy in a kingdom —
but you have opened wide a place of peace and joy where his dreams can be fulfilled. So he has not really left us, he's close by in a way he could never be before. He knows how much I miss him and loved him. He understands about all the things I meant to do and didn't, and all the words I failed to say. He puts his arms around me, comforts me and says "It's all right, human love is faulty but for all its faults — enduring." The loss of the body does not mean the loss of that love. It's with me forever. Your Sister

Reporting of suspected child abuse called key to prevention

Reported child abuse cases are increasing at a rapid rate. Experts agree that unless abused children are identified and protected at the time of the initial trauma, a number of them will be permanently injured or killed as a result of subsequent abuse.

In order to identify those children, Illinois state law mandates the reporting of suspected child abuse or neglect by certain professionals likely to have direct contact with children under 18 years of age.

According to the Illinois State Bar Association, those persons who are required by law to report suspected abuse or neglect are:

Any physician, hospital, surgeon, dentist, osteopath, chiropractor, podiatrist, Christian Science practitioner, coroner, school teacher, administrator, transient officer, social worker, social services administrator, registered nurse, licensed practical nurse, director or staff assistant of a nursery school or a child day care center, law enforcement officer, or field personnel of the Illinois Department of Public Aid. The duty to report arises when such persons have reasonable cause, based on direct observation of the child, to believe abuse or neglect has occurred.

Failure to perform that duty, together with a subsequent injury to the child, could give rise to a cause of action in court for negligence.

While the law specifically requires these professionals to report suspected cases of child abuse, the State Bar points out that any person, whether or not they are required by law, can report a case of suspected child abuse.

Moreover, the Act specifically provides immunity from criminal or civil liability to any person, agency, or institution who participates in good faith in the making of a report.

Procedures for making and acting on suspected abuse reports are also established by the Abused and Neglected Child Reporting Act.

Reports of suspected abuse cases should be made immediately by telephone or in person to the nearest office of the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services. The Granite City telephone number is 876-8985.

A written report must also be made within 24 hours after having reasonable cause to believe abuse or neglect has occurred. After receiving a report, oral or written, the Department of Children and Family Services must initiate an investigation. The Illinois State Bar Association has urged anyone who has questions regarding child abuse or reporting requirements to contact the nearest office of the Department of Children and Family Services, 1506 Johnson Road.

Holiday travel 'safety break'

The Free Spirit REACT Team will hold its first Christmas safety break starting Friday, Dec. 22, at 4 p.m. and continuing through Sunday, Dec. 24, at 4 p.m.

The safety break will be held at Interstate 270 and Highway 111 behind Don's Shell Service Station.

"We will be monitoring citizen band Emergency Channel Nine from the break site, and the public is invited to stop by and observe REACT in action," Publicity Director M. G. Downing said.

"The Free Spirits take this way of wishing everyone a safe, merry Christmas and a happy new year."

"We will have the safety break site decorated for Christmas."

Sanders Explorer president

Keith Sanders, 18, 1845 Rhodes St., Madison, was elected president of Explorer Post 10-4, sponsored by the Madison Police Unit 110.

Sanders is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Sanders and was reared in Madison. He graduated from Marquette High School in Allon and is enrolling in a law enforcement program at Belleville Area College.

Sanders works as a door guard at K-Mart in Granite City.

He also is active in the Knights of Columbus Council 1068.

He was a member of Cub Scout Pack and Boy Scout Troop 47, both sponsored by St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison and served as assistant Scoutmaster to Troop 146, sponsored by Hope Lutheran Church.

Sanders is the immediate past chief of the Cahokia Lodge, Order of the Arrow, and worked on the staff at Camp Sunken for two years.

He has been a member of "10-4" for nearly five years and has served as treasurer and vice-president.

Jason Kieffer, 2708 Angela Drive, was elected first vice-president.

Kieffer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Kieffer.

He is a freshman at St. Louis University and is interested in law and politics.

Kieffer was the Cahokia Mound Council delegate to the National Explorer Conference in Washington, D.C., in 1977 and also represented the local Council Explorer Presidents Association at an area meeting held near Table Rock Lake, Mo.

Special guest of the Explorers at their meeting was Judge William "Bill" Johnson of the Third Judicial Circuit Court who explained the court system.

Judge Johnson reviewed the relationship between a police officer and the court. He further invited the Explorers to visit the court in Edwardsville where he could show them various court offices personally.

The next meeting of Post 10-4 will be a Christmas party on Dec. 23 at the Madison Memorial Center in Madison.

Madison Police Officer William Wiedner is adviser to the post.

NEW STATE HOTLINE

The department licenses 32 broad-based occupational groups. The number (800-972-5663) is monitored from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and an answering machine takes the calls at other hours, said Joan G. Anderson, director of the agency.
